Did Dosco Breach Federal-Aid Pact?

By RON COLLISTER
Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — The government is holding the threat of a breach-of-contract lawsuit over the Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation.

Both Justice Minister Trudeau and Health Minister MacEachen confirmed Wednesday that the government's aid-to-Dosco agreements are being studied to establish if there is a breach of contract.

MADE PITCH
This is a powerful new weapon for the government in its tussle with Dosco over the closing down of its Sydney, N.S., steel plant.

Several years ago, Dosco was having trouble borrowing money for expansion and made a pitch to the federal and provincial governments.

In a series of agreements signed May 25 this year, the federal transport department gave Dosco $1,700,000 to modernize its century-old wharf facilities.

Through the Atlantic Development Board, it gave another $2,000,000 to install modern bulk-handling facilities, matched by $2,000,000 from the provincial government.

In all, Dosco picked up $5,700,000, which it promised to repay on a per-ton-handled basis.

EXAMINE STATE
Government sources said they will have to examine the state of the contracts, but it is unlikely that Dosco has paid back much of the loan already. In addition, Dosco promised to invest $5,700,000 of its own money in a four-year modernization program, starting May 25 this year.

Dosco officials are reported to have claimed that this money has been invested.

In the Commons Wednesday, the Dosco affair continued to dominate the question period.

Donald MacInnis, Cape Breton Conservative, asked the prime minister if the government had formulated plans for phasing out the Sydney steel operation.

Pearson hedged on whether or not the government was committed to phasing it out.

WE ARE WORKING OUT plans for the protection of the interests of the workers, especially in the Sydney steel plant," he replied.

MISCONSTRUED
"These are the plans with which we are preoccupied at the moment."

MacInnis asked if Pearson's reply was support for the statements of Industry Minister Drury or a denial of Forestry Minister Sauve's statements.

NEW HOUSING HELP COMING NEXT YEAR

By IAN STREET, Legislative Reporter

New legislation to encourage the building of more private homes in B.C. will be introduced at the legislative session which opens in January, Premier Bennett said Wednesday.

Nothing Special For French

B.C. has flatly rejected Prime Minister Pearson's suggestion that French-Canadians should be able to feel at home linguistically and culturally anywhere in Canada.

When the question was raised with Premier Bennett here Wednesday, he said, "Pearson has messed this thing up bad enough now without interfering with other provinces."

Asked to explain what he meant by "messed up," Bennett said he had nothing more to say on this subject.

NO OBJECTION
A few minutes earlier, however, he made it clear that B.C. had no intention of following the lead of Ontario Premier Roberts in his willingness to set up some high schools in which French is the language of instruction.

Bennett said he had no objection if an individual school board wanted to expand the teaching of French.

When asked about the Ontario French education plan, Bennett replied: "He (Roberts) lost a lot of support in his election yesterday."

ONE PUBLIC SYSTEM
The premier added: "In B.C. we have one public school education system in which any student by choice may learn French. No separate schools, whether parochial or private, are financed by the provincial treasury."

This policy was established before B.C. joined Confederation, said Bennett, and was not aimed at parochial schools but against those who wished to have "a state church and schools of the English faith."

NORTH AMERICAN FACT
It was the decision of the people, he said, to have a non-sectarian school system where everybody could attend.

Bennett said Quebec's current

He told a news conference on the eve of his departure for the Okanagan that no details of the new scheme would be released beforehand.

All the premier would say was that "the government will announce a new policy providing further help toward the building of individual homes." He declined to answer all queries about the relationship of the new scheme to the home-owner's and home-buyer grants.

AGREES WITH CAMPBELL
The provincial government agrees with Vancouver's Mayor Tom Campbell, he added, that big buildings filled with low-rental suites weren't the most desirable solution.

However, Bennett said, there was a limit to what any provincial government could do to provide more housing at rates people could afford, because Ottawa controlled the monetary system.

"The Liberal chickens are coming home to roost and they are hurting not only the federal government but all the people as well," the premier added.

MASSIVE SWINDLE
Referring to a Colonist story which quoted Neil McKinnon, chairman of the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce, Bennett said one of Canada's leading bankers was saying "in much stronger terms than I used" what B.C. had claimed for several years past.

McKinnon said Tuesday in Montreal that the serious inflationary trends in the economy were due to government over-spending and represented "a massive swindle."

THEY MUST RESIGN
Bennett said: "The federal government should take action against this head of a Canadian chartered bank or resign. Either they are guilty or not. If not this statement is damaging to Canada. If it is true, then the Liberal government must resign."

B.C. had said from the start, the premier added, that balanced budgets in Ottawa were the solution to Canada's financial woes. The Liberals, he said, had "stalled the car right on the hill" and solutions should have been found before the present impasse.

Miners Hurt
VANCOUVER (CP) — Two miners were injured Wednesday in a "fall of ground" in the underground workings at the Granduc Mine, a company spokesman said here today.

The two men were being flown to hospital at Prince Rupert.

Cardinal Rejects Exile in Rome

ROME (UPI)—Jozsef Cardinal Mindszenty stood firm against what was described as pressure from both the Vatican and the United States Wednesday and refused to leave Budapest for exile in Rome, Hungarian sources reported.

The Roman Catholic primate of Hungary was said to have demanded unacceptable concessions from the Communist government and a "dignified" departure.

"I am sorry I am alone," Franz Cardinal Koenig of Austria said during a Munich stop-over as he flew back to Rome from a Budapest mission aimed at persuading Cardinal Mindszenty to leave Hungary and accept permanent exile here.

DEMANDS CLEARANCE
Cardinal Mindszenty, 76, was convicted of treason in Budapest in 1949 and has been a political refugee in the U.S. legation in the Hungarian capital for 11 years since the days of the bloody "Freedom" revolt.

He has always demanded clearance of the treason charges.

Cardinal Koenig, representing Pope Paul, was reported to have joined American diplomats in urging Cardinal Mindszenty to get out of Hungary and to have participated in talks with the Hungarian government toward an agreement clearing the way for his departure.

Authoritative sources said the talks had broken down "at least temporarily" after a near solution did not work out.

Qualified informants said the talks would continue with the United States taking an active role.

Labor Charges

Red Conspiracy Threatening U.K. Economy

LONDON (CP)—Both Prime Minister Wilson and Labor Minister Ray Gunter Wednesday said a Communist conspiracy is threatening the economy of Britain.

Delivering the government's first accusation against the Communists—against a background of wildcat strikes and work slowdowns that have made idle more than a quarter of Britain's longshoremen—Gunter said:

"There now is little doubt the Communist party is planning to make this a winter of disruption."

'DESTROY HOPES'
"Their aim is to destroy our hopes of economic recovery and thereby they hope to bring ruin to the social democratic movement."

In a speech to businessmen later, Wilson said the Communists are threatening "the successful working of industrial democracy in this country."

Referring to the wildcat strikes by longshoremen at London and Liverpool—now in their fifth week—Wilson said: "No one can look at Britain's export trade at this moment without being shocked by the fact that a large volume of exports... lies in warehouses awaiting shipment."

ACTION HINTED
Both Wilson and Gunter hinted action eventually may be necessary to bring the wildcat strikes to an end.

But officials stressed there

'It Wasn't a Fun Year For Indians and Poor'

First Miss

Death of his father ended Andy Hebertson's all-time ironman hockey record Wednesday at 1,665 consecutive games over 15 years in the National and Western hockey leagues. Hebertson, of Victoria, a member of Portland Buckaroos of the WHL, missed a game against Seattle to attend the funeral of his father in Winnipeg.

X-Ray Service Resumed

SHERBROOKE, Que. (CP) — Radiologists in the Sherbrooke and Magog areas have resumed emergency services at district hospitals and in their offices, whose $30 a month maximum goes up by 80 cents.

SASKATOON (CP) — Alan Clarke, executive director of the Company of Young Canadians, says Canadians should do more than just talk about existing social conditions.

He told the annual meeting of the Saskatchewan Parks and Recreation Association, "It was not a fun year for the Canadian Indian, the Negro in Nova Scotia, for families trapped in urban slums or for the more than 1,000,000 adult Canadians who are functionally illiterate."

Canada is both a have and a have-not country in which the ordinary Canadian often is the victim, rather than the agent or beneficiary, of social progress, he said.

Many young people are starting to act to supplement the talk about conditions. They are joining groups such as the CYC to work in many areas to bring about changes.

Commenting on reaction to what is being described as "beards and long hairs" in the CYC, Clarke said "preliminary surveys indicate that the per capita number of beards and long hairs in the CYC is far less than in the photograph of the Fathers of Confederation taken at Charlottetown."

He asked Canadians over 25 to take a close look at existing organizations to make sure their work is fulfilling its objectives.

"And one other thing that the older generation has to do is to begin to respect and learn from the differences in people in this country."

Camels Ideal Gift —Or Maybe Wig?

THE OTHER HALF: Every Christmas, the lavish Neiman-Marcus department store in Dallas, Tex., offers a his-and-hers special. A few years back, it was his-and-her bath-tubs. After that, his-and-her hot-air balloons. This year the relatively modest price of $4.125 has been placed on his-and-her camels — "for people who have been promising themselves to slow down . . . a pair of the slowest, surest beasts on land."

If camels aren't flashy enough, or you feel like splurging a little more — or that certain someone already has a camel — the store has a pretty 24-karat spun gold wig for $35.00.

For status at a rock-bottom price, the store offers "Made exclusively for Neiman-Marcus" emblazoned sweat-shirts at $5 each. Colors: pink, orange and yellow.

MIRACLES TO ORDER: Andre Kole is an expert at card manipulation and magic. He also saw his wife in half. Mr. Kole will appear at the University of Victoria at 12:30 p.m. Friday and then at Lanadowne School at 7:30 p.m.

The magazine Collegiate Challenge says "through the medium of magic, he challenges his audiences to consider the Person of Jesus Christ."

This professional magician is now on the staff of the Campus Crusade for Christ.

THE GOOD WORD: One poor little word is being done a grave injustice. Vulgarly it is rather like beauty — it's in the eye of the beholder.

That misjudged four-letter word wasn't originally Anglo-

Saxon, as it found acceptance first in Greek, then in Latin, German, Anglo-Saxon and English.

The difficult thing is to find out is when it came into dispute.

It was used readily by Shakespeare, Fletcher, Burns, D. H. Lawrence and James Joyce, to name but a few of the world's great writers.

It's such an effective little word. A corporal who drilled my platoon could use it in almost any grammatical form — verb, noun, adjective, adverb and so on.

Such a versatile word deserves a better fate.

ALAS AGAIN: The mayor's comments on the city's gift to the arts are in direct conflict with those of the management of the Art Gallery of Greater Victoria.

The gallery bulletin for this month says, "Because Victoria's municipal grants for cultural purposes have always been the lowest in Canada by a wide margin, the gallery has never been able to budget for art purchases from its annual revenue."

"In this situation it has been the women's committee which, in donating more than $10,000 through its cultural fund over the past 14 years, has been the major source of the gallery's funds. Without the funds earned through the committee's constant hard work and ingenuity, an acquisition policy would not have been possible."

Perhaps the mayor can refute these statements from the gallery in the light of his own past presidency of that body?

In the last audited statement of Bastion Theatre covering an 11-month period up to this summer, the city had granted the theatre company $8,880. The theatre company had paid back to the city $12,840 in rental for the McPherson Playhouse. How's that for casting bread upon the waters?

ONION RINGS: Ian Diment's plan to put late-night entertainment into his Purple Onion has taken off like a jet. An hour before showtime Saturday night there was a house-full sign posted.

Comedian Peter Legge has an act that is too full. He did well for the first half hour but must have felt obliged to go on and on.

He opened with the Three-Legged Jake routine that Rolf Harris made famous, but he did it very well and it was good.

Mr. Legge could have trimmed the rest of his material and scored heavily. Like they say, "Better leave them laughing and yelling for more."

Dosco Pact

Commons and complained his remarks in Banff on Monday had been misconstrued.

He was not referring to the Dosco announcement when he said at the weekend: "Our planning problem is to synchroize the phasing-out of coal-mining and steel production in the Greater Sydney area . . ."

NOT FORMULATING PLANS

In the Commons Tuesday, Drury seemed to take a position contradictory to the Save statement: "The government is not formulating plans to close the (Dosco steel) operation," he said.

Health Minister MacEachen, the minister from Nova Scotia, promised that the cabinet will give careful consideration to sharing with the province any losses in keeping the plant open. This possibility is going to be discussed at a meeting of federal-provincial representatives in Ottawa next week.

Fewer Quitting Viet Cong Force

SAIGON (AP)—The rate of defections from the Viet Cong has fallen below last year's level for the first time this year, U.S. officials reported. The figures for the week ending Oct. 6 showed 288 Viet Cong defected, compared with 315 for the same week last year. The over-all rate remains almost double last year's, with 23,876 defections in 1967 against 13,473 last year.

Protests Made Against Mill

KITIMAT (CP) — Two protests have been lodged against an application by Eurocan Pulp and Paper Co. Ltd. to discharge effluent from its proposed pulp mill into the Douglas Channel. The channel links this north-western B.C. community with the ocean.

Strikes Blamed on Reds

was no question of the government assuming emergency powers at this stage.

The wildcat strikes and slow-downs are challenging Wilson's campaign to inject more efficiency into Britain's work habits.

Gunter deplored the breakdown in the authority of the labor unions, which he described as "the great bastion against communism."

Denouncing outbreaks of violence by unofficial strikers, Gunter said the Communists have allied themselves with ex-short a visit to the United States and Mexico.

Wilson told the businessmen that 300 years ago "the country was facing, economically, very much the same situation as it faces today."

Wilson discussed the crisis Wednesday at a special meeting with Gunter and union chief Frank Cousins, who had cut port performance and the balance of payments," Wilson said.

"In the 1600s they discussed the decay of trade and the want of energy."

Wilson said he takes comfort from the thought that all the firms represented at the meeting he was addressing had been exporting for 300 years or more and were still showing versatility in expanding trade.

Isuzu Bellett.

The economy car that didn't cut corners to get under $2000.

When it comes to cutting corners, we're square.

That's why the Isuzu Bellett ended up with 4-speed synchro-mesh and a 71 h.p. engine that tops 90 m.p.h. (That's 42% more horsepower and 13% more speed than the biggest-selling economy car.)

And the Isuzu Bellett ended up with 4 doors and 4 headlights. (That's 100% more doors and 100% more headlights than the biggest-selling economy car.)

And the Isuzu Bellett ended up with an all vinyl interior. Whitewalls. Undercoating. And a locking gas cap. All standard equipment. (The biggest-selling economy car doesn't have any of these features so there's no percentage figuring it out.)

There's one place we're at a stand-off with the biggest-selling economy car. We have independent 4-wheel suspension. So do they. We don't mind sharing the glory on this one point.

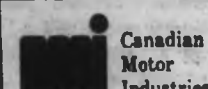

Of course, we get up to 40 miles to the gallon. That's why we call the Isuzu Bellett an economy car.

Otherwise, it would probably be the cheapest luxury car going.

Pap Tests Have Good Record

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD

Dear Dr. Molner: Exactly what is the Pap test and what does it prove? Can a person still have cancer after the test? How often should a woman in her 40s have it? My test was negative but I do not feel satisfied. Am I right or wrong? — MRS. M.J.D.

Probably wrong, within certain limitations. The Pap test (an abbreviation for Papanicolaou, the name of the doctor who originated it), consists of scraping a little of the moisture from the cervix, or neck of the uterus. This always contains cells from that mucous surface.

This smear, or sample, is placed on a microscope slide and stained with a special type of tissue stain. This causes the individual cells to show up clearly under the microscope.

Now it is one of the characteristics of cancer that the cells, besides dividing at an abnormally fast rate, also are abnormal in size and shape. In fact, it is this abnormality of the cells which is the basis for the most positive of all tests for cancer, the biopsy, in which tissue is removed surgically to obtain the cells.

The cervix is particularly vulnerable to cancer. It customarily starts on the surface. Therefore if cancer is starting there, and since a cancer sheds cells in large numbers, the abnormal cells show up readily with the Pap test. Among other things, the cancerous cells accept the stain more readily than healthy cells.

For these reasons, the Pap test is very likely to detect cancer if it is present. Furthermore, it can detect it at its very earliest stages before there is a lump, or erosion, or any other visible sign. Discovered at this early stage, the cure rate is very high, because the tiny cancer can be removed before it has had time to spread.

The test is not 100 per cent accurate, but it rates in the high 90s. If the test, properly carried out, fails to detect a cancer, the obvious explanation is that the particular smear did not happen to contain the cancer cells — but it is unlikely that such cells will be absent at the next test.

In the other direction the Pap test occasionally gives a "false positive."

This, while hard on the patient's nerves, leads to no great harm; a regular biopsy then pins matters down to a definite yes or no.

Again, Retreat

IN A REMARKABLE reversal of policy and abandonment of principle last year, Victoria city council decided to allow the persistent B.C. Hydro to run a power-line through a section of Thetis Lake parkland south of the Trans-Canada Highway.

At issue was where the line should go: inside the partly wooded and pastorally scenic park property, or outside it in an area already cut by railway tracks. Going outside would cost Hydro an extra $20,000, council was told. In exchange for cutting the swath and erecting the poles and lines inside it, Hydro would give the city title to another, 49-acre piece of Thetis Lake property—to which the public was already guaranteed access under Hydro ownership.

Now the power authority—and this is no credit to a provincial agency, either—doesn't want to follow one of the rules upon which council insisted in order to reduce the disfigurement of parkland. It doesn't want to cut the stumps of felled trees below ground level. And Mayor Hugh Stephen, fearful that Hydro will reroute the line with a resultant civic loss of the title to the 49 acres, is joined by parks committee in recommending that council yield on this point.

The retreat is sounded despite two important related facts: that another route was supposed to cost Hydro $20,000 more, and that the cost of chipping away the stumps was estimated last spring by the parks administrator at $1,200—a cost which would probably be more than offset by the authority's timber salvage.

It is pertinent at this point to repeat what we said when council, having made up its collective mind in secret session to vote for a scar on supposedly protected natural beauty, was about to make the decision formal:

"To weaken to the extent of allowing a power-line to go through parkland, especially when another route is available at so little extra cost, would be to invite the belief that the mayor and aldermen will not stand up to anyone who is big enough, persuasive enough or persistent enough. It would be a most unfortunate precedent."

It was. And now it is being followed.

The Danger at Sydney

THE GRAVE danger is that if Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation cannot be persuaded to alter its decision to close down the steel manufacturing plant at Sydney, N.S., next April, the government will "nationalize" it in order to preserve a source of employment for some 3,000 people in that depressed area of Canada.

Apart altogether from the general public repugnance against the entry of government into the field of private enterprise, the take-over of the Dosco operations at Sydney could mean nothing but loss or provision of subsidy by the government to keep them going.

It has been known for many years that with the deterioration of the coal supply in Nova Scotia, the only other economic reason for having a steel industry in the district had disappeared. Dosco, both before it came into the hands of the Hawker-Siddeley group, and before that when it was an independent Canadian company, has known that sooner or later the plant had to be abandoned.

It is doubtful if anything, and least of all an amateur operator such as the government would be, could save the operation.

The Canadian steel industry has moved into the populated areas of Ontario and Quebec, and here are the supply lines to handy raw material. Nova Scotia, unfortunately, is out, because in addition to its raw material deficiency it has to face heavy freight charges to take its end product to market—and in steel, highly competitive, this is a killing blow.

It thus seems unwise to assume that Dosco can be saved—at least for any length of time—and the alternative facing government, both federal and provincial, appears to lie in a more aggressive attempt to get more suitable industries into Nova Scotia to make use of the adequate labor force that exists in the area.

So far as steel is concerned, it is to be remembered that for many years the B.C. government has endeavored to establish such an industry on this coast where the population is greater and where there is a wider market available. Here, as in Nova Scotia, the plan on a major scale has been abandoned as impracticable.

Impressive Gains

IF THERE IS ANY CONCLUSION to be drawn from the results of the Ontario elections, other than the obvious, it is that vigor and organization in a political campaign can be expected to pay good dividends.

Mr. Donald MacDonald was elected to the leadership of the New Democratic Party three years ago and ever since has displayed a dynamism and aplomb which have very much impressed his adherents. His political opponents should not have been surprised by the socialist's success of Tuesday.

Although the NDP elected only 20 members to the 117-seat legislature, this was a big improvement over the showing of 1963 when they held only seven seats. It is true there were nine more seats in the new House as a result of redistribution. But the socialists boosted their percentage vote from 15 in 1963 to an imposing 26, a powerful 623,165 vote total as compared with 339,290. That is a gain of approximately 50 per cent.

It is true the Liberals remain the official Opposition with 28 seats, a gain of four over their previous total. But youthful leader Mr. Robert Nixon has to face the fact that in the popular vote his party lost ground, from 35 to 32 per cent.

The victorious Conservatives, under Premier John Robarts, have no cause for complacency. They lost ground in every area. When they elected 77 members in 1963 they commanded 49 per cent of the poll. Now, with 69 seats, a comfortable enough majority, to be sure, they can count only 42 per cent support in the electorate.

As is so often the case with governments holding huge majorities, Mr. Robarts may have approached this election over-confidently.

Next Monday New Brunswick's Premier Louis Robichaud will be tested at the polls when the greatest challenge will come from the Progressive Conservatives under their new leader, Mr. Charles Van Horne. He is a man like Ontario's Mr. MacDonald, an organizer and an enthusiastic campaigner.

If the pattern of provincial election results is to be broken this year—Social Credit in Alberta, Conservatives in Nova Scotia, Liberals in Saskatchewan, and Conservatives again in Ontario, all re-elected—Mr. Van Horne must win this one.

On Probation

Wilson's Dilemma Persists

By KENNETH HARRIS
from London

BRITAIN'S prime minister, Mr. Harold Wilson, did not get the battering at the annual Labor Party conference which was almost universally predicted for him, but the show of support put up by his faithful followers cannot divert attention from the dilemma of his new commitments. He has undertaken to achieve two objectives which seem mutually incompatible: get into the European Common Market and reduce unemployment.

If Wilson cannot make a dent in that figure by the spring, he will be in real trouble. Several members of the cabinet have made it clear to him that a continued high level of unemployment would be regarded by them as a major burden on their conscience. Though the voting at the party conference went Wilson's way when economic policy was debated, it did so by the narrowest of margins. His economic policy was tolerated, not endorsed, and one of his senior cabinet ministers, Mr. Richard Crossman, admitted to me in a late night television discussion that "the government is now on probation."

Europeans have made it clear that Britain cannot be allowed into the Common Market until her balance of payments situation is in equilibrium. It is not at the moment, and the chances are not very good that even a short-term favorable balance can be established within 12 months from now. If the economies of the United States and Germany turn up good and fast, the outlook for Britain will improve. Capital investment in Britain, particularly in those regions now suffering from high unemployment, will also improve the outlook, and it is about time that so far as international trade is concerned Britain got a little bit of luck. But, even assuming the most favorable circumstances over the next 12 months, it seems most unlikely that Wilson can afford to reflate the British economy sufficiently to make an appreciable effect on the present level of unemployment, which is the highest since before the Second World War, and is expected to reach three-quarters of a million in the peak month, next February.

The precision of Wilson's dilemma is this: if in the spring he makes a move to reduce unemployment openly and palpably his critics in France and Germany are likely to assume that when it came to the crunch he preferred to risk reducing ranks at unemployment. On the other hand, if he leaves unemployment where it is, he looks certain to run into a combination of bitter protests from the trades unions and strikes. This situation would have a very bad effect on the balance of payments situation. Wilson seems to get it either way.

Notwithstanding, Wilson seems full of confidence. I have never seen and heard him, privately or publicly, in such excellent shape. Privately, and publicly on television, I have put the dilemma to him, and his answer in effect is: "The problem is there, but I know what is being done to deal with it, and you will see for yourself by next spring; we can then expand, and shall."

Outraged Offbeat

With a Soft Voice and Iron Will Mr. Speaker Rules the Commons

By RICHARD JACKSON
Colonist Ottawa Bureau

PARLIAMENT has never had a speaker more in the last 27 years—a Commons Speaker quite so good, so in cool control, so unversally accepted and respected as Lucien Lamoureux. And the competition in excellence, on two or three occasions has been keen.

There have been eight Speakers, ranging from the impossible bad to the incredibly good. Two of them, Ross Macdonald, now a senator, and René Beaudoin, now a university lecturer, each in his own very particular way, were exceptionally successful.

True, René Beaudoin's parliamentary career was blown to tragic pieces in the explosion of the Pipeline Debate—a political drama still unsurpassed in its fury—but until that detonation, he had made his mark and more as a great Speaker.

But neither Macdonald nor Beaudoin, accomplished though they were, even at their best could hope to wear Lamoureux's robes.

How good, really, is the man? Well, it just could be that when history looks back on the great Confederation Debate, the small part played by Speaker Lamoureux may turn out to have been crucial.

It happened just recently on the day when Creditiste Leader René Caouette moved to adjourn the previously scheduled business of Parliament to discuss what he said was "a definite matter of urgent public importance."

Now under the rules of the Commons the day's business cannot be shelved, except for a real and well-established emergency, to deal at once with an issue of such public importance and urgency it simply can't wait.

What urgent matter did René Caouette have in mind?

This, as he put it in these words: "Should our country, Canada, remain a nation or should it be partitioned to please the destructive elements that want to destroy the basis of national unity . . ."

Now René Caouette may be a lot of things, a few of them quite extraordinary, but separatist he is not.

Rather, his loyalty to his country is of high emotional voltage, passionate, even for a French Canadian.

Quietly, Mr. Speaker Lamoureux, just as if he heard such pleas for this kind of emergency debate on an issue so staggering every parliamentarian day, asked him why he considered it so urgent that the Commons should drop everything else.

"Because," René Caouette told him, "the very existence of our country is at stake," and went on to speak of the separatist outrages against the nation.

Calmly, Mr. Speaker heard him out, then almost casually said, "I would ask honorable members not to broach such a subject in the present circumstances," and then ruled the Caouette emergency motion out of order.

Onto his feet in shouting protest exploded Gilles Giguère, the only avowed separatist in Parliament.

What kind of a ruling was this? he demanded.

Wasn't Mr. Speaker required by the rules to listen to the argument of MPs on the question of urgency, and hadn't he made his ruling without hearing anyone?

True, conceded Mr. Speaker, unflinchingly.

But that's the way it was. All the arguments in the world weren't going to change his mind—he just wasn't going to.

The Ugly Language

IN reading in Sunday's Colonist . . . "School Trustees Alarm'd Over Textbook Vulgarity," I feel confident there must be scores of people who share with Mr. Wood, concern over an unsavory story now in a Grade XII textbook.

I commend Mr. Wood for taking this courageous stand against a subtle way of reaching our youth to undermine their morals. We all know from reading world history the sure way to corrupt and cause a nation's downfall is to do what all our newsmen are doing in Canadian and American cities, selling obscene material to corrupt the youth of this generation.

If we had a few more men of Mr. Wood's calibre something could be done. Surely our leaders have closed their eyes to a very serious responsibility which is facing them and they haven't got the courage to take a stand against it.

JOHN BORRADAILE,

Human Rights

Infringement upon the private rights of citizens has again raised its ugly head. This offence has apparently been committed by the very government that enacted Canada's first Bill of Rights.

Circulated throughout the Dockyard, and posted on bulletin boards, is a disturbing notice entitled "Political Partisanship." For the information of all civilian employees it states:

"(1) No deputy head and, except as authorized under this section, no employee shall (a) engage in work for, on behalf of or against a candidate for election as a member of the House of Commons, a member of the legislature of a province, or a member of the Council of the Yukon Territory or the Northwest Territories, or engage in work for, on behalf of, or against a political party."

What employees do during working hours is their employers' business. That which citizens do after working hours, except where security of the country is involved, is their own business, to be determined by themselves, without any "Big Brother" employer looking over their shoulders. Is it possible that the government thinks a truck driver, boiler-maker, or any other tradesman is somehow a threat to ship-repairing, possibly by having, and speaking of their political preferences on their own time? Directors, managers, and owners of industries, industries which bid for and receive government contracts do not have restrictions placed on their political activities. They are not required by law to leave their place of employment if they take an active part in the democratic processes. Why, then, should conduct with adequate safeguards. Nevertheless, the decision to hold such a plebiscite might conceivably emerge from peace talks, if they are held soon.

The main Biafran objection so far has been that this would imply that minority problems are peculiar to Biafra. Biafrans point out that nobody has consulted the smaller tribes, for example the Bauchi, on whether they wanted to share the North-Eastern state with the large Kanuri nation of Bornu, nor had the Nupes been asked for their opinion before they were grouped with the Hausa-Fulani majority of Sokoto.

But Biafrans and many other people in the south refuse to believe that the division of the former North into six parts has in any real sense broken the power of the North. The six new states are still administered together under a single Northern Council under the chairmanship of the former military governor of the North, and this will be a major stumbling block when the constitutional settlement is finally worked out.

But the most uncertain factor in Nigeria's future—Biafra apart—is the attitude of the Yorubas, Nigeria's most homogeneous tribe. The division of their former region was made despite their clearly expressed wishes to remain united; furthermore, the former Northern provinces of Kabbia and Iorin which are part of the Northern states, are Yoruba, and many people would like to see these areas merged with the West. Chief Awolowo, Nigeria's elder statesman, was the chief proponent of Yoruba autonomy within the Nigerian federation, and the fact that he was given the official title of Leader of the Yorubas after his release from prison last year indicates that he was regarded as head of a people who think of themselves as a nation rather than a tribe.

The indications are that the new arrangements suit many Yorubas not better than the Ibo, and that the opposition to the 12-state system will come to the surface once opinions are again allowed to be expressed. Certainly, the present constitutional set-up will be strongly contested before a final version is agreed. It seems a pity therefore, that acceptance of the 12-state decree by Biafra is one of the conditions on which the federal government insists before ceasefire can take place and peace talks can start.

Not All Hippies

Yes, the Victoria Youth Council does include hippies. To say that the VYC is a hippie group is not a gross exaggeration: It is a lie. The VYC contains high school students, university students, dropouts, working kids, hippies, any youth who is interested in influencing the factors that influence him. An article last Sunday, while favorable to our Youth Labor Pool, depicted the labor pool as a service for hippies, and in fact seemed to make no distinction between the terms "hippies" and "Victoria Youth Council."

This misled the public, and was thus harmful to the young people who are seeking work. I would suggest that anyone who intends to catalogue the VYC as "hippies" attend one of our meetings (open to the public) and see how wrong that opinion is.

Hanoi Prepared for Lengthy War

By NICHOLAS DANLOFF
From Washington

On behalf of Hanoi's leadership, Defence Minister Vo Nguyen Giap has rejected any suggestion that the 1968 U.S. presidential election might produce a move toward peace in Vietnam — even if a Republican won.

Rather, North Vietnam's chief military theoretician foresees that in the months to come, the United States will escalate its troop levels in Vietnam and intensify its bombardments of supply lines to the Viet Cong and possibly also against populated areas and the dike systems of North Vietnam.

Giap doubts, though, that the United States in its "obdurate" determination — most recently articulated by U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk — will invade North Vietnam and invite "incalculable" but unspecified consequences.

These are some of the salient points which emerged from an analysis of a 25,000-word statement by Giap published and broadcast in North Vietnam Sept. 14-16. The full translation of his remarks, intended for Communist operatives in North and South Vietnam, have now become available in Washington.

State department experts concluded that Giap's assessment of the military situation was a sober one, but nowhere have the U.S. analysts detected any wavering of North Vietnam's determination to pursue the war.

U.S. experts say that Giap is preparing for the long haul — a "protracted war," as he calls it, in which he hopes the United States will get hopelessly bogged down and eventually quit out of impatience.

Throughout Giap's statement the North Vietnamese leader indicated that he considered the newly elected

Giap

South Vietnamese government, headed by Nguyen van Thieu, had no claim to legitimacy — was merely a U.S. puppet.

Thus, the success of any new peace initiative by Thieu's government appears extremely dim. Rusk himself gave a similar indication when asked about Thieu's stated intention to send an open letter to North Vietnamese president Ho Chi Minh.

Giap underlined that North Vietnam is willing to consider only the South Vietnamese Communist National Liberation Front as the legitimate claimant to power in South Vietnam.

On the U.S. presidential elections, Giap said this specifically:

"Our people hold that after the forthcoming presidential elections in the United States, and despite a possible change of presidents, the U.S. imperialist's aggressive policy cannot be changed in nature."

"The U.S. presidential elections are but a distribution of hierarchies among the personalities of the parties of the ruling capitalist class in the United States.

"Of course, through the forthcoming elections, the American people will better realize the errors and setbacks of the Johnson administration in the aggressive war in Vietnam. And so the struggle of the American people against the aggressive war will be stronger."

U.S. experts said it was notable that Giap did not seem to place much hope on the ability of ordinary Americans to change the course of U.S. policy. At most, he called American dissent "a valuable mark of sympathy and support for our people's just resistance."

Thus as the preliminaries to the 1968 U.S. presidential campaign get under way, both sides in the Vietnam war appear as determined as ever to go on fighting.

New U.S. Tack to Justify Vietnam War

'Yellow Peril' Bogey Dangerous Sign

By JOSEPH KRAFT
From Washington

Raw politics may explain the recent evocation of the yellow peril by Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Vice President Hubert Humphrey. The administration is leaving no sophistry unturned in its search to justify Vietnam. In that connection, the spectre of "militant Asian communism" and of "a billion Chinese armed with nuclear weapons" comes in handy.

But on the off chance anybody believes the administration arguments, a word on the proper American role in Asia is in order. For taken seriously, the raising of the yellow peril represents a truly dangerous escalation, an overreaching of the spirit which puts the U.S. in a position that has elements of madness.

Sane American policy in the Far East has always rested on the proposition that the U.S. interest is to avoid a major war on the Asian mainland. To escape that horror it kept the Korean war limited, despite the immediate cost in casualties.

So far the Vietnamese war has also been fought and rationalized in the context of avoiding a major conflict in China. American officials, notably Secretary of Defence McNamara, have repeatedly emphasized the "limited" nature of American objectives in Vietnam.

Dean Rusk has usually tended to stress the maintenance of the "territorial integrity" of South Vietnam against external aggression — an objective which by no means has to involve war with China.

That same principle of limitations applies even to some of the administration's more grandiose claims.

Even accepting that the war in Vietnam has saved Indonesia, revived Singapore and Malaysia, stifled the Philippine and Formosa, and brought economic miracles in Japan and South Korea — there is still scope for restricting the war.

Even accepting all those goodies, as I do not, one would still want to saw off the war at some time short of a direct engagement with China.

The trouble with evoking the spectre of a billion Chinese with nuclear weapons is that it lifts the sensible restraints the U.S. has imposed upon itself.

It makes China Public Enemy Number One. It sets up a direct eyeball-to-eyeball confrontation between Washington and Peking. It gives license to those on both sides who want the showdown now. And from the legitimization and spread of such ideas there spring manifold troubles.

For one thing, there is the Vietnam war itself. As long as the objective is to prevent successful aggression, one can imagine some administration at some time making an honorable settlement with the leaders of North Vietnam and the Viet Cong.

But if the enemy is militant Asian communism, then there is no honest respite. It is only logical to go in deeper and deeper until a change is forced in the regimes of Hanoi and Peking.

Emphasizing Vietnam as the Chinese stopper, moreover, distorts in the worst way the true international priorities of the U.S. The true priority — the more so if China is Public Enemy Number One — is to work out co-operative understanding with the Soviet Union.

But that goal is complicated, to put it mildly, by the attacks on North Vietnam. And emphasis on the dangers of Asian communism undercuts such promising projects for Soviet-American co-operation as the non-proliferation treaty.

It is, after all, a bit thick for Washington to expect India and Japan to renounce nuclear weapons at precisely the moment Dean Rusk is screaming his head off because the Chinese have them.

So far, the Chinese and North Vietnamese leaders have not shown any disposition to draw back because American leaders stamp their feet. If anything, they have accepted the challenge, and moved in deeper and deeper themselves.

And that is where the touch of madness comes in. For in ascribing political motives to the administration I was being charitable. The fact is that the administration has got the U.S. into a war it does not know how to stop; it knows only how to go in deeper and deeper and deeper.

And it is doing just that right now in a mood of anger, frustration and plain malignancy.

British 'TV University' Plan Starts Controversy

By CY FOX
From London

Television would play a dominant role in a degree-conferring university planned by the British government as a higher-education boon for thousands who missed the academic boat.

Jennie Lee, widow of Aneurin Bevan and now minister responsible for the arts, is pushing the university idea, expected to become a reality in 1970. However, the project is proving controversial.

Already dubbed the Open University, the institution would accept anyone paying the set fee, even persons lacking proof of passage through Britain's stiff secondary school examinations.

But the lively Miss Lee insists that the openness would not mean a sacrifice of standards.

"Preparation for courses leading to a general type degree would be thorough and with academic standards carefully safeguarded," she said in an announcing final organization plans. "There will be no compromise on this."

The plan is for Open to go on the air during the day, early evening and weekends. Extra courses would be given by radio.

There also would be in-person tutorials, short residential courses and academic help given through local centres using audio-visual equipment.

Students would receive credits at the end of each academic year, in the North American fashion. The degrees would be guaranteed by one or more of Britain's existing universities.

Chief critic, Stuart Hood, former controller of television programs for the BBC, says that since the two-set home still is "a comparative rarity" in Britain, whole families will have to watch the university programs if one member of the circle deems it essential.

Television, he writes in an article for The Times, is a good informer, but not a good instructor. Being a visual medium it is "bad at presenting abstractions."

A TV university would have "to compete with entertainment and with the distractions of the home. It cannot therefore allow itself the kind of cloistered virtue which marks scholarship."

The Hawk, the Dove and I

By ARTHUR HOPPE

It had been an excellent dinner and we sat in the drawing room in front of the fire sipping brandy — the Hawk and the Dove and I.

The ladies had gathered in a corner to discuss children and schools and where to ski during the coming winter.

The Hawk, short and intense, and the Dove, lean and cool, had been politely at it all through cocktails and dinner, sometimes one scoring a point, sometimes the other. Both talked in tough, realistic terms in keeping with the tenor of the times in this autumn of the year 1967.

"The bombing simply hasn't worked," the Dove was saying as he lit a cigarette. "It's supposed to stop them bringing in troops and supplies. And by our own figures they're bringing in more now than when we started."

"But it's obvious they could bring in even more if we stopped the bombing," said the Hawk leaning forward in his chair. "That's the point."

"Would anybody care for more coffee?" asked the gracious hostess.

And I tried to conceive what it was like to be bombed. I tried and I couldn't.

Like many of my generation, I have been bombed in wartime. But that was long ago.

I tried to feel again the way your stomach clutches when the siren goes, that panicky desire to do something, that awful feeling of your own vulnerability, that terrible impotence that comes with realizing you have no control over whether you live or die. I tried to feel again that fear. But I couldn't.

"For God's sakes," the Hawk was saying. "We're doing everything we can to keep from bombing civilians. Maybe a few get napalmed, but..."

"Some mints?" said our hostess, passing a cut-crystal bowl.

And I tried to conceive what it was like to be napalmed. The shock of the explosion, the very air aflame, the searing of my lungs, the fiery jellied gasoline sticking to my shoulder. If I pull it off, the flesh comes too. I tried to feel the pain. But I couldn't.

"But we simply aren't winning on the ground," said the Hawk, sipping his brandy. "We move in, take a village and move out. Most areas are insecure."

And I tried to conceive what it was like to be insecure — to wonder each day if the Americans were coming with their tanks and flame-throwers and bombs. And to wonder each night if the Viet Cong were coming with their executions and reprisals and ... tried to feel death. But I couldn't.

"Cream and sugar?" asked the hostess.

So the Hawk and the Dove argued, sometimes one scoring a point, sometimes the other. And midnight came and we left, thanking our hostess for a stimulating and enjoyable evening in this autumn of the year 1967.

And as I drove home through the quiet streets I realized for the first time that the reason any nation marches off to war and the reason men can calmly debate its strategy, its tactics and its political goals is that war is — quite literally — inconceivable.

Beaten Girls Die Near Wooded Lane

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — Two 17-year-old high school girls were found beaten and stabbed repeatedly, perhaps to death Wednesday on a bed of pine needles near a wooded lovers' lane.

One of the victims was clad only in underwear and autopsies were being performed to determine if the girls had been sexually attacked.

Leon County authorities said the girls were beaten and stabbed repeatedly, perhaps with an ice pick. Their purses and articles of clothing were strewn about the woods.

The bodies of the popular 17-year-old girls, Elizabeth Ann Wood and Kay Granger, were found by sheriff's deputies after an anonymous telephone caller reported seeing them.

The caller mumbled that the bodies were sprawled beside a swimming hole in the Blue Sink recreational area, a wooded playground known as Lovers' Lane. He hung up after saying he should not have been in the area, but wanted authorities to know about the bodies.

Answer for Draft Foes

'Nonsense Won't End War'

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI)—Fly- secretary of the War Resisters League, one of the sponsors of Stop the Draft Week, which is to be climaxed Saturday with a march on the Pentagon.

The pickets fell back as protest leaders called for an orderly demonstration to avoid a repetition of Tuesday's melee when police swung billy clubs and fired tear gas onto to break up a crowd of 3,500. Officers were assaulted then with a road flare and chunks of concrete.

Fifty-seven sit-ins were taken into custody to raise the three-day arrest total to 204 during demonstrations at the centre.

Among the latest to be arrested was David Harris, 21, former Stanford University student body president. He is western

The arrests came after small groups bolted from picket lines to sit-in at the centre doorways before the arrival of civilian workers and some 300 inductees.

Sit-In Broken Up

MADISON, Wis. (UPI)—Club-wielding police broke up an anti-Vietnam war sit-in at the University of Wisconsin Wednesday and held mobs of retaliating students at bay with tear gas. Scores of persons were injured.

A spokesman for university hospitals said about 65 persons were treated for injuries.

Many students fought back. A few policemen were pummeled by fist-swinging demonstrators when they became separated from other officers.

One policeman, who was struck by a rock, said: "I pay my taxes for the university so I can come up here and have these kids beat me up."

The police squads quickly hauled off the sit-ins and formed a human barricade, allowing the workers and inductees to enter the 10-storey building without incident.

As the crowd dwindled, a group of 20 counter-pickets arrived to parade with signs saying Support Our Men in Vietnam.

Spokesman James Brown, 18, Stuttgart, Ark., told newsmen "we just got together because we all think the right way."

Brown expects to report for his draft induction next week. "We even stoop to taking a bath once in awhile and have even been known to get our hair cut," Brown said. "We know this nonsense won't end the war."

'Hellish Fires' Kill Soviet Venus Probe

Planet Too Hot for Men to Handle

MOSCOW (UPI) — A Soviet radio transmitter that made the first soft landing in the primeval wastelands of one of earth's planetary neighbors reported Wednesday that Venus was too hot for humans to handle, even if they could survive its poisonous gases with breathing devices.

The electronic voice from the depths of space, immune to the absence of oxygen on the planet closest to Earth, died late Wednesday after sending the Kremlin more than 12 hours of coded messages and completing a historic mission hailed around the world as a giant step in man's efforts to conquer the cosmos.

It appeared the package of powerful but sensitive instruments had finally disintegrated in what Soviet scientists described as "hellish fires" produced by temperatures of more than 500 degrees.

EMBLEM STAYS
Scientists said the Russian data indicated Venus was passing through an early stage of development not unlike conditions on earth one trillion years ago in the eons before even the simplest forms of life had emerged from the primordial fireball of creation.

An emblem of the hammer and sickle made of metal impervious to the heat remained after the radio fell silent. American scientists said the momentous landing had given the Soviet Union a lead of at least six years over the United States in planetary exploration.

Tass reported the probe found the planet's atmosphere more than 96 per cent carbon dioxide — a non-poisonous gas perfect for growing green plants but incapable of sustaining human existence.

It found little inert nitrogen, which makes up most of the earth's atmosphere, and insufficient oxygen to keep a man alive, according to the Soviet report.

Tass reported the Venus probe found no noticeable magnetic field or radiation belt around the planet Venus such as the deadly Van Allen belt that girdles the Earth.

This was expected to bode well for future cosmonauts who may try to fly to Venus equipped with air conditioned space suits to sustain them in its inhospitable climate.

Cash Cuts Hit U.S. Program

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)

The brilliant success of Russia's Venus IV comes at a time when budget cuts have hit the United States' future interplanetary hopes for several years.

The congressional cuts, heavily opposed by many scientific groups, may force the U.S. to take a permanent back seat.

While the United States had no plans to soft land a spacecraft on Venus, as Venus IV did Wednesday, she had hoped to land two unmanned Project Voyager laboratories on Mars in 1973 and two more in 1975 to study the planet extensively, including a search for life.

Cuts in the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's fiscal 1968 budget request have delayed the first double Mars shot until at least 1975. Also eliminated was a preliminary scouting mission to the red planet by a smaller spacecraft in 1971.

CAPSULE
The U.S. Mariner V will pass within 2,500 miles of Venus today to make scientific measurements. At 540 pounds, it was not large enough to carry a landing capsule. Venus IV weighed 2,438 pounds. Each Voyager would weigh more than 20,000 pounds.

The United States has two remaining Mariner craft, both of which are to be launched to pass near Mars during the 1969 launching period.

No other shots are planned before 1975, if then. Mars moved into position as a target every 25 months and Venus every 19 months.

Americans Launch Sun Gazer

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)

The United States orbited a robot observatory to gaze at the sun Wednesday 12 hours after a Russian probe landed on the planet Venus.

The 599-pound sun-watching satellite, an orbiting solar observatory named OSO 4, marked another step in the scientific effort to develop a solar radiation warning system for astronauts going to the moon and planets.

OSO 4 is equipped with a battery of telescopic eyes to peer constantly at the sun and watch the great eruptions on the sun's outer edges that occasionally shoot lethal doses of radiation into space.

Nixon

Win for Republicans Predicted by Nixon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former vice-president Richard M. Nixon predicted Wednesday that he or any other Republican nominee could defeat President Johnson in a "close race" next year.

That nominee still might be Nelson A. Rockefeller, he said, notwithstanding the New York governor's insistence that he is not interested.

Nixon spoke to newsmen during a day of conferences with congressmen and senators on Capitol Hill. He said he was not doing any "arm-twisting" but was discussing "the legislative situation at this time."

Nixon said he expected to announce his decision about running for the 1968 prize in January. "I'm convinced the man who survives the primaries and wins the convention" will make Johnson the third president in this century to be denied re-election.

Asked if he might be the man, Nixon replied: "If I should win the nomination, yes."

Arctic Fire Lost Fliers?

INUVIK, N.W.T. (CP) — A five-ship Arctic coast raised hopes in the search for Einar S. Pedersen, chief navigator for Scandinavian Airlines System, and two companions. Mr. Pedersen, 48, Thor Jontlit, Lt. J. M. Crawford, RCAF searchmaster, said here Wednesday the sighting of the fire was "very encouraging." He said an amphibious Albatross search aircraft with a para-rescue team aboard would leave Inuvik this morning to check the fire location.

NDP Concern Housing Not Realtors

MEDICAL ALERT

About 15,000 Canadians wear Medic Alert bracelets to warn physicians they require special treatment.

VANCOUVER (CP) — New Democratic Party leader Robert Strachan said Wednesday that a real estate man who quit the party after 32 years misunderstood the party's policy on the housing crisis.

Don Allstone of Vancouver, a member of the NDP and its predecessor, the CCF, since 1935 and a real estate man for 23 years, quit the party Monday night.

KEY LETTER

He said he could no longer stomach charges by the NDP that real estate men were land sharks. He said the key event prompting his resignation was a letter from Strachan that he said was "autocratic, ambiguous and evasive."

Strachan said Wednesday: "He misunderstood my statements—and I can't understand why he took this action."

"In the letter I pointed out that there was a housing crisis and that real estate men had been in control of housing for many, many years."

"I challenged the real estate people to come up with something to solve the housing problem rather than just using real estate as a device to make a living."

Strachan said he did not condemn the real estate profession and his concern was not to get them. "My concern is to get housing," he said.

Allstone said Tuesday night that he was all through with working in politics.

I'M FINISHED

"I'm finished with the NDP and I have no intention at all of joining or becoming involved with any other political party," he said. "It seems to me that the NDP is attempting to win the support of other segments of society by making this blanket condemnation of real estate."

"It is playing one group of Canadians off against another and I want nothing to do with it."

He said the party could turn on doctors or teachers as the next target.

Paintings of the floral emblems of the Yukon and Northwest Territories also were given to Northern Affairs Minister Lalng.

What's a company like Cominco doing in a place like Düsseldorf?

Opening up new markets in Western Europe for the sale of Cominco metals — metals mined and processed in British Columbia. That's what Cominco is doing in Düsseldorf, West Germany. Just as it is doing elsewhere — in the United States, Britain, Africa, Japan, India and South-East Asia. The reason for this is simple. Today Cominco's metal output in British Columbia is at near record levels. We make far more than of Canada can use. So Cominco must go world-wide to market its B.C. products. Developing foreign markets for Cominco products means more trade and revenue for British Columbia today; even more in the future.

Lumber Prices Move Up

By HARRY YOUNG
Business Editor

Victoria lumber yards are complaining that once again they are the victims of B.C.'s own inflationary spiral. Lumber prices for the second time since June have been increased by 5 per cent at the producer level, and there's no relief in sight.

"These are the sort of increases we have to pass on to our customers," said one spokesman for a lumber yard company. "This in turn means higher costs of home building and all other construction jobs using lumber."

He said the increased price was attributed to a shortage of lumber. This had been caused by the long slowdown in the forests this summer; the strike of forest workers in the interior of B.C.; and an unseasonably strong demand for lumber and plywood from the Atlantic seaboard.

ORDERING AHEAD

"Most sawmills and other distributors have their order books filled to the end of the year and they are now writing orders for January and February."

Plywood prices are also said to be holding firm, and in some places higher although in this phase of the industry no shortage is reported.

"We have plywood in hand to meet all demands," said a spokesman for the plywood industry.

PROVINCE BLAMED

In addition to the other reasons for increased lumber prices, the government is getting its share of the blame.

"The premier forced an unrealistic wage settlement on the industry, and you cannot expect to have higher wages and lower housing costs at the same time," said the lumber yard man.

SHORTS GROW BOLDER

The New York stock exchange is said to be in an overall condition, and the exchange's statement of the short interest as of Oct. 13 indicates this is the case.

At Oct. 13, the number of shares notified as short was an all time record of 17,810,855 shares or 1.720,577 shares more than at the middle of September.

When the short position is more than the normal trading volume for two full sessions of the exchange, the situation is regarded as bullish.

"What it means is that it would take more than two full

Round Road

School journeys needn't be boring as Guy Lydster, 12, left, and Blake Desaulniers, 11, of Vancouver, found out. They took detour through huge water pipe being installed in their neighborhood.—(CP).

No Beef About B.C. Meat

KAMLOOPS (CP)—A spokesman for a Japanese mission said Wednesday the quality of British Columbia beef is "much better" than it had expected. Hiroshi Kuroki, spokesman for the seven-man mission, told a public reception the Japanese are impressed with the size of ranches in B.C.

"We did not expect they would be so large," he said through an interpreter.

The Japanese, who arrived in Vancouver Sunday to begin a two-week inspection tour of Canadian beef cattle herds, are visiting B.C. ranches before moving to the Prairie provinces.

The mission is being sponsored by the department of trade and commerce through joint co-operation of provincial governments, breed associations and the federal department of agriculture.

HIT FROM ABROAD

Investment houses in Victoria say that the weakness in Canadian bank stock is mainly due to foreign selling.

AUCTION POSTPONED

The sale by auction of two Toronto shopping centres and real estate scheduled for Monday was postponed at the weekend until Nov. 27.

Art Roberts, president of Maynards Industrial Auctioneers Ltd., who are auctioning the property, said a last minute appropriation of 8½ acres of land, and late interest from overseas buyers had precipitated the postponement.

HEAVY LOSSES FEARED

The Bank of Montreal will probably lose millions of dollars through the bankruptcy of Anglin Norcross Corp. of Montreal and its associate companies.

The statement was made by Lloyd Houlden, Toronto lawyer, at a meeting of unsecured creditors of Universal Plumbing and Heating 1961 Ltd., which owes $1,884,665 to unsecured creditors and is a subsidiary of Norcross-Anglin-Norcross.

The Bank of Montreal has a debenture security of $7,500,000 in the Montreal firm, which has British interests and is one of the largest firms in the construction and development business in eastern Canada. Despite the security, Houlden said the bank would lose heavily. Unsecured creditors of Universal Plumbing have also nothing to be cheerful about. The company's only asset is a loan to the parent company of $1,905,038. Its value is stated to be $1.

NOT RECOMMENDED

The directors of Fraser Companies, the Edmundstone, N.B., papermaking firm, have strongly recommended the shareholders not to accept the recent offer of Price Company to acquire their shares in exchange for Price securities.

The directors say that the Price offer represented a depressed valuation of Fraser assets and prospects.

Wings' goalie stops shot by Toronto star rookie Wayne Carleton

Lions Scare Riders

OTTAWA — B.C. Lions, who almost upset Hamilton Tiger-Cats Sunday, gave Ottawa Rough Riders the same kind of scare here Wednesday night before succumbing, 19-16, in a Canadian Football League interlocking game, when Don Sutherland kicked a 27-yard field goal with less than two minutes left.

Athletics to Oakland

Seattle Gets AL Franchise

CHICAGO (AP) — The American League approved Wednesday night transfer of Kansas City Athletics to Oakland, Calif., effective in 1968, and also adopted an expansion plan to increase membership to 12 clubs by 1971.

Cuban Sprinter Double Winner

MEXICO CITY (CP-AP) — A Cuban ceramics worker became the first double gold medalist of the pre-Olympic Games, completing a women's sprint sweep in track and field Wednesday.

Europeans captured all seven rowing gold medals — there were no North American entries — and Russia increased its team lead with three more gold medals while Poland moved into a tie with the U.S. for second place, each with four. The Russians have seven gold.

PARKING TIME
Miguelina Cobian, a 25-year-old Cuban, turned in a sparkling time of 23.1 seconds to win the women's 200-metre dash. Miss Cobian earlier won the 100 metres.

Cross-Country Meet Friday

Caremont runners make their first defense of the T. Eaton Trophy Friday with the first inter-high cross-country meet being run at Caremont. Six schools, Victoria High, Oak Bay, Mt. Douglas, Esquimalt, Edward Mike and Caremont, all have teams entered.

Girls will race over a 1.8-mile course and the boys over a three-mile course. Race time is 4 p.m.

Without a ground attack worth mentioning, veteran Bernie Faloney gave the Riders plenty of trouble with his passing, often throwing from a "shotgun" spread and finding sticky-fingered receivers in Jim Young, Leroy Sledge and Jim Sidle.

Faloney completed nine of his first 11 passes for 188 yards, got the Lions ahead 9-0 early in the second quarter and then passed them back into the lead, 16-13, early in the third quarter.

Lions opened the scoring in the first quarter with a 13-yard field goal by Ted Gerela after Faloney had passed them from their 32-yard-line to the Hamilton five-yard line. A spectacular catch by Sledge which netted 49 yards was the big gainer. Sledge took the ball away from Joe Polter, who appeared set for an interception on a long heave from Faloney. Early in the second quarter.

Faloney found Young all alone on the left side, hit him perfectly and Young outpied punners for a 71-yard touchdown. The convert try by Gerela hit the left upright and caromed out.

Riders finally started to slow down Faloney's passing and got an attack going with fullback Bo Scott and quarterback Russ Jackson gaining plenty of ground carrying and Whit Tucker picking off first-down passes from Jackson.

TOUCHDOWN MARCH
Riders marched on their 18-yard line for their first touchdown with Scott running for 17 and 11 yards, Jackson for 17, Ron Stewart for 13 and Tucker catching a 24-yard pass along the way.

A 49-yard pass to Margene Adkins in the end zone after a holding penalty produced the six-point lead. The convert try was wide.

An interception by Bob O'Brien, his seventh of the season, got Riders started immediately and they went 84 yards for the score, Jackson running for the last 23 yards. The convert was good and Riders had a 13-9 lead at half-time.

HAD LEAD AGAIN
Lions pulled ahead again early in the third quarter, getting their start when Neal Beaumont intercepted a pass and got it within 18 yards. Faloney got 13 on a pass to Young, then found Young in the end zone two plays later.

Gerela converted for 16-13 but Sutherland came up with two field goals to put the Riders into a first-place tie in the Eastern Conference with Hamilton Tiger-Cats. Each club has three games remaining.

PORTLAND (AP) — Portland Buckaroos bounced back with three goals in the final period to knock themselves into a 4-4 tie with the Seattle Totems Wednesday night in a Western Hockey League game.

Larry Lund scored two goals for the Totems, who ran up a 4-1 lead at the end of the second period. An outburst of Portland goals in the final period gave Bucks the tie.

Chuck Holmes and Cleland Morton scored the other Seattle markers.

Maple Leafs May Play In Louisville

LOUISVILLE, Ky (AP) — A bidder for the Toronto Maple Leafs baseball franchise said the International League team probably would operate in Louisville next year if he can buy the club for $65,000.

"I have bid $65,000 for the Toronto franchise and from all I can learn the bid will be accepted by the International League Thursday," Walker Dilbeck, Evansville, Ind., real estate dealer, said in a telephone interview.

President Bob Hunter of the Toronto club has authorized the league to sell the Leafs for not less than $60,000 during the league meeting in Columbus, Ohio.

Fourth Straight Setback For Shorthanded Hawks

Chicago Black Hawks weren't damaged much by the expansion draft but the defending National Hockey League champions haven't the depth to combat the losses of Doug Mohns, Stan Mikita and Chico Maki through injuries.

And, last night they were further damaged by a trade they made with Boston when the Bruins pounded on them in Chicago for a 7-1 victory.

It was the fourth defeat in as many games for the Hawks, now the only one of the 12 NHL clubs without a point. They have scored but eight goals and given up 23.

The unbeaten Bruins, now sharing the Eastern Division lead with five points from six Wings were never headed, taking 2-0 and 3-1 leads and then holding off a third-period Toronto bid with some fierce forechecking and a holding penalty against Peter Stenkowski.

Brian Conacher got the Leafs to 3-2 with more than five minutes left and Mike Walton appeared to get it tied a short while later but Stenkowski made his infraction as the scoring play was developing and the goal didn't count.

A former teammate was responsible for Canadien's getting not better than a tie. Phil Goyette, who had tied the score at 1-1 in the first period, came up with his second goal of the game late in the third period to again tie it up.

Yvan Cournoyer and rookie Jacques Lemaire scored the Montreal goals before a record New York opening crowd of 15,925 fans. Extra entertainment was provided in the first period when John Ferguson and Ted Harris of Montreal and Reg Fleming and Orland Kurtenback got into a hassle which produced major penalties for all four "policemen."

Only 3,385 fans turned out for the game as attendance in the new division continued for the most part far below hopes.

In Oakland, Los Angeles Kings continued to surprise, remaining unbeaten and tied for the Western Division lead by playing to a 2-2 tie with California Seals, who also have two wins and a tie to show for three games.

Kings were never behind, defencemen Dave Anadito and Dale Rolfe giving them 1-0 and 2-0 leads. Bill Hicke tied the score at 1-1 in the last minute of the third period and Kent Douglas whistled in a shot on a power-play in the third period to gain the Seals a point.

Hat-Trick Makes Five

Bathgate Top Sniper

National Hockey League expansion has meant extended careers for many a veteran, and none have taken advantage of the chance better than 35-year-old Andy Bathgate.

He became the first five-goal scorer of the season last night in Pittsburgh, scoring three times as the Penguins twice came from behind to earn a 3-2 tie with the winless Minnesota North Stars.

Eight on the all-time list of NHL scorers, Bathgate now has 304 scoring shots and, barring injury, might last long enough to become the fourth member of the 400-goal club, formed by Maurice Richard and now including Gordie Howe and Jean Beliveau.

Stu Wallace completed the scoring for the Tyees from Steve Carroll on a breakaway.

Tyees were on the offensive in the first half but spent most of the second penned in by the Oak Bay forwards.

Brent Russell scored two goals to lead the Mount View Hornets in their 5-0 victory over the Esquimalt Dockers.

PLAY TO TIE
Rick Lamoureux, Graham Lee and Dennis Somner scored the other Mount View goals. Somner's coming on a penalty kick.

Pete Gogolak Rejoins Giants

NEW YORK (AP)—Pete Gogolak, who once feared he never would kick a football again, is working out daily at Yankee Stadium with New York Giants during a 10-day army leave to see if he can recapture his old place-kicking form for Sunday's game with Green Bay Packers.

Gogolak, a private in the army at Fort Belvoir, Va., took it easy Tuesday after kicking the ball 10 or 12 times Monday. "I haven't practised or kicked a football since last December," Gogolak said in the Giants' locker room. "I do not think I have lost the touch. Naturally, my leg still is a little weak but I feel better after a good rub-down."

Gogolak is a slimmer down version of the man who stirred up a big storm by playing out his option with Buffalo Bills of the American Football League

Sooke Shows Off Its Progressive Schools

By BILL STAVDAL
Sooke School District served notice Tuesday that it is keeping pace with modern education. Trustees and administrators of the small school district displayed their classroom showpieces for a small group of invited educators.

The district, with only 4,300 pupils compared to Greater Victoria's 30,000, is trying out a wide range of new teaching methods this fall. Some of them are continuations of programs begun several years ago.

The group which spend Tuesday touring district schools included John R. Meredith, assistant superintendent of education for the province; Dr. Fred Tyler, dean of the faculty of education at the University of Victoria; and William Allester of Vancouver, director of professional development for the B.C. Teachers' Federation.

Trustees John Bartanus, Isabelle Reader and Fred Willway accompanied them, along with district superintendent Ernest Ryndman and several principals.

At John Stubbs Memorial elementary school in Belmont Park, the group visited classrooms where the Initial Teaching Alphabet is in use for the fourth year.

Known as ITA, it is an expanded alphabet of 43 characters developed by the Pitman family, of shorthand fame. Each symbol stands for the same sound every time, so there is no confusion.

READING FASTER
Not all John Stubbs youngsters start on the ITA, but those who do pick up reading faster, said principal G. A. Turner. In about a year the children are switched over to the regular alphabet.

OBSERVATION
Educational aids assist the children. A feature of the wing is an observation room, from which education specialists can observe the classes through one-way glass.

The psychology department of the University of Victoria collaborates with Sooke School District in testing and evaluation of youngsters with learning problems.

Teacher Norma Petersen, Trustee John Bartanus, encourage Len Sampson, 7, in special class at Glen Lake elementary.

'Board Needs No Trustees'

The suggestion that school district representatives be granted voting membership on a regional board of health was challenged by Mayor Hugh Stephen.

The proposal was part of a report on the integration of the metropolitan board of health into the regional board as one of its functions, submitted Tuesday by senior medical officer of health Dr. J. L. M. Whitbread.

"There is no necessity for school trustees to be represented," said the mayor of the proposal that districts 61, 62, 63 and 64 be granted voting membership on the board which would evolve from the present health body.

In the first place, said the mayor, the title regional board of health, used in the report, was a misnomer. The intention was to bring health matters under the jurisdiction of the present regional board, and not formation of a new body.

When health matters were brought under the present regional board their administration would merely be another function, the mayor said.

The board, duly elected as representatives of the people, would simply ask school boards what they required in the way of health services, see that they were provided and bill them accordingly, the mayor said.

Book Attack Blamed On Headline Hunger

VANCOUVER (CP)—A Vancouver English teacher Tuesday condemned school literature which "headline-hungry" by "headline-hungry" trustees.

Jim Satterthwaite, head of Eric Hamber high school's English department, was answering a Victoria school trustee's call for a ban on a Grade 12 English text introduced in B.C. this term.

The book, a supplementary text used at the teacher's option, includes a short story entitled "Defender of the Faith" by Philip Roth. The story contains a number of vulgarisms, including a four-letter word for sexual intercourse.

Satterthwaite said students—"Unlike some headline-hungry trustees—do not go through literature looking for four-letter words."

The English teacher said students are looking for "the overall impact of the story." "If we just go through our textbooks looking for words like these, we'd be censoring a lot of good material," he said.

Bennett Prods Ottawa

B.C. will continue to draw political attention to Ottawa that $12,000,000 is still owing to the province in downstream flood benefits from the U.S., Premier Bennett said Wednesday.

Mr. Bennett said he didn't blame the U.S. for late payment of the sum owing. This was Ottawa's responsibility, he said, because the federal government had entered the Columbia River Treaty on behalf of B.C.

"We recognize Ottawa's right to make treaties and to keep them," the premier said, "I suppose the only argument we'll get will be on how much interest should be paid."

The $12,000,000 in flood control benefits became due last July 31 when the Duncan Dam, smallest of three built on the Columbia under the treaty, was completed and put into full operation.

Report Urges Gypsy Help

LONDON (AP) — A government report has called for a better deal for Britain's most underprivileged people, the gypsies. The report, prepared by the ministry of housing, said more than half of gypsy families live without water, sanitation or electricity in squalid camps outside settled areas.

Outlook Mild, Wet

Above-normal temperatures but heavy precipitation are in store for Vancouver Island in next 30 days, according to long-range outlook of U.S. weather bureau. Outlook is not specific and changes may occur. — (CP)

New Department Scored

Consumer Guard Without Teeth

OTTAWA (CP)—A government bill setting up a new department of corporate and consumer affairs was strongly criticized in the Commons Wednesday for lack of teeth.

Erik Nielsen (PC—Yukon) said Registrar-General Turner, as minister of the new department, will have power to persuade, cajole and threaten, but no power to enforce measures which could stop rising prices and cure other consumer problems.

MONOPOLY

He charged that high food prices are the result of monopoly and near-monopoly control of food distribution by a few giant distributors. Decision to raise food prices up are not governed by the law of supply and demand, but by corporate board rooms, he said.

Resuming debate on second reading of the bill, seeking approval in principle, Mr. Turner said consumer products today are hidden by a plastic or cardboard curtain, with fancy packaging and high-pressure advertising.

His department will try to ensure protection from fraud, deception, and unfair trading practices, maximum quality of goods and service, and full information on which buyers can make proper selection of goods. Eldon Woolliams (PC—Bow River) said the department would not have real power to control or freeze prices.

Mr. Nielsen called the creation of the department window dressing.

"It's weak," he said. "How is it going to bring down the cost of shoes, hamburger, bread, or butter? It has all sorts of high-sounding phrases, but nothing with any teeth."

"The only possible reason for a new department is protection for the consumer against inordinately high prices—not more soft leather seats for bureaucrats."

Seamen Relive Horror

SAN PEDRO, Calif. (LAT) — Three of five survivors of the freighter Panosceanic Faith that sank last week off Alaska arrived here Wednesday and told of the horrors of the sea tragedy that claimed 35 lives in the frigid waters of the North Pacific.

"There were seven of us in an inflated rubber liferaft dropped by a Coast Guard plane," related Oscar Wiley, 28, of Oakland, Calif.

"Four of the men died in front of our eyes — dropped dead in our arms before the rescue ship was able to pick us up."

High Waves

Edwin Johnson, 43, of Detroit, told how two of the men apparently died from shock, the other two drowned in the life raft.

"Waves 15 and 20 feet high were breaking over the liferaft the 17 hours we were in it," Johnson continued. "Two of the men saved from the sea drowned from the waves that swamped the small raft."

John Kirk, 36, engineer of Modesto, Calif., told how the men, once in the raft after spending two hours in the 50 degree water, tried to help each other.

Whistles Blew

"There were whistles in the liferaft. The sea was so rough we blew whistles to let each other know we were still all right."

"Every few minutes we shouted roll. But as the hours passed the number answering dwindled until only three of us could respond. Ed Johnson was unconscious and dying by the time the Norwegian freighter reached us."

The Norwegian motorship Vinland that rescued the trio 870 miles southwest of Kodiak nine days ago stopped at San Pedro Wednesday to return the survivors to their homes and to deliver bodies of four that perished in the disaster.

Near Death

"I was perhaps luckiest of the five to be alive," Johnson continued. "I was unconscious when they lifted me aboard the Vinland. I would have been dead in a few minutes."

"There was only a slight pulse at my throat. The Norwegians knew what to do. They restored the body heat quickly. They saved my life."

Two other survivors, Gordon L. Campbell of Oakland and Lewis E. Gray, Jr., of Houston, were rescued by the Japanese freighter Igashima Maru and are en route to Yokohama.

The 49-ft. Panosceanic Faith carrying 10,200 tons of fertilizer was en route from San Francisco to India, via Japan, when she sank.

Possible negligence in the sinking was indicated by the three survivors.

"We were told to plan to abandon ship at 6 o'clock on the morning of Oct. 9," related engineer Kirk.

No Time

"Yet, when we finally started into the lifeboats nine hours later at three in the afternoon, the ship went down before there was time to lower the lifeboats."

"We know how it happened," said Johnson. "But all the facts will have to come out in the Coast Guard inquiry here Oct. 26."

"All I can say now is the ship took on water in the forward hatch and went down. Just put it that way. The sea was rough, but we were not in the eye of a storm."

Said Kirk: "She hung on all day from six in the morning until three in the afternoon. Then all of a sudden she gave up the ghost and went down nose first. It just went like that. Some of us were thrown off the lifeboats and the decks. Some dove into the water. Some went down with the ship."

"The last I saw of the captain he was standing on a wing of the bridge. That's the last I saw of the old man. I think he rode her down."

Liferaft

"Everybody that could, swam to pieces of rubble, to something to hold onto," Johnson related.

"There were eight of us riding a hatch cover when the Coast Guard plane started dropping the rubber liferafts. One of the rafts dropped about 60 or 70 feet from us."

"The swells were running 45 feet high. Only three of us swam from the hatch cover to the liferaft."

"The others that stayed with the hatch cover refused to leave it. Either they couldn't swim the distance to the liferaft or they felt safer."

"Scooby, the steward, one of those who stayed with the cover, yelled to me: 'I know we're doomed if we stay here, that we can only last a few more minutes then freeze in this water, but I've got something to hold onto here. I might not make it to the liferaft.'"

Decision Should Be Up to Doctors, Says Banks

By JOHN MATTERS

Dr. Peter Banks, prominent Victoria consulting physician, says someone will eventually have to decide which ailing people will live or die, and it should be the decision of doctors rather than ordinary citizens or governments.

"... No society will be able to afford for all its citizens all the new arteries and the new kidneys and the new hearts and the expensive biological chemical adjustments that science will make possible. "Therefore, we will be faced with the tremendous problem of patient selection," he said in an article recently published in the British Columbia Journal of Medicine. Dr. Banks wondered: Is it better for society that a middle-aged and successful man should go on the artificial kidney or should it be used for the young, unproven student? "I think, regardless of whether we think it is right or wrong, doctors will be forced to go on making these decisions because I don't think anyone else can and I don't think it's going to increase their popularity one bit." He suggested that an altruistic group of citizens would be an alternative to a doctors

"death panel," but "in practice these often turn out to be less altruistic than the doctors and usually finish by asking for medical advice anyway." Another alternative is for government to make those decisions, but this was too Orwellian for Dr. Banks. "This is surely a very important reason for trying to keep our doctors always independent, as much as we can, of the possibility of government direction and control."

He also pointed out that there were "some very disturbing" advances in genetics. "I was once thought that all men were equal, then thinking evolved along the lines that inequalities were the result of different reactions to environmental factors.

Genes Control

However, it now has been established that inequalities are passed from generation to generation through the genes, the basic hereditary material which cannot only decide such features as eye and hair color, but attitudes such as aggressiveness.

"It looks then as though inequality, both physical and mental, is created at the very moment that the male and female chromosomes clash together in the damp darkness of the ovarian tubes." It appears these inequalities can be recognized and predicted and, in the future, perhaps altered.

"Now then, add to this a future society which will not be able to afford the best for all, and you come to a political equation with which we in our generation cannot live, and yet with which our children must."

Cost Explosion

The knowledge explosion in medicine is leading to a cost explosion and the investigative facilities of hospitals will have to compound at the same rates, he said.

"The question will arise: Can we as a society afford this? And the usual pat answer that we get is that we will have to afford this. But this is no answer."

Dr. Banks pointed out that already people suggest everyone should have a complete checkup once a year. However, if this were done, it would take the full time of all doctors doing that and nothing else.

He said that 20 years ago it was thought that better health would pay for itself by increasing the efficiency of the work force.

Cell Chemistry

However, the advances in medicine today are of greater magnitude than the discovery of antibiotics.

The advances will be in complex cell chemistry, for example, and from this will probably come the cures for cancer, degenerative arterial disease and for all the aches, pains and weariness that come with age.

"This will need increasingly complex and expensive equipment for investigation and treatment," said Dr. Banks.

He suggested the fee-for-service principle is superior to having doctors on straight salaries.

Better Job?

Dr. Banks said he knew of two salaried neurosurgeons in Newcastle, England — one who did eight operations a day and the other who insisted he could do only two.

"Who was doing the better job? Because salary leads to overwork of the willing horse and because it leads to a hierarchy which will protect itself and exclude competition by excellence alone as the ultimate measure of a man's success, many of us believe that the fee-for-service principle of payment for medicine is probably the way in which we can get the maximum amount of work from each medical unit."

Merger News To Some

Believe it or not, there are still people in Victoria who do not know that the Red Cross has joined the United Appeal.

A good clue to the new partnership is the new name United Red Feather-Red Cross Appeal.

"There are some people who support Red Cross and nothing else," Victoria president W. W. Lewis said this week. "We want them to realize that in this campaign they can still support Red Cross."

There will be no Red Cross campaign next year, Mr. Lewis said. "The money given or pledged now will be used next year."

At 5 p.m. Wednesday the total collected amounted to $200,555. This year's goal is $200,000.

Gun Angle Held Key To Intent

A man who intended to kill a person would aim a gun deliberately at that person, defense counsel Nicholas Musallam told the Full Assize of the Supreme Court Wednesday.

The lawyer was summing up for the 12-man jury the defence of James Frederick Redlin, charged with non-capital murder in the fatal shooting May 9 of Mrs. Lavina Nicholson, 67½ Sooke Road.

NOT ADMED

He said the height of a bullet hole in the wall and wounds suffered by Mrs. Nicholson indicated that the rifle discharged accidentally at an upward angle and was not aimed.

Counsel Kenneth Murphy for the Crown previously reviewed the evidence and told the jury it all pointed to the guilt of the accused.

Mr. Justice Nathan Nemetz will begin his charge to the jury at 10:30 a.m. today.

Esquimalt Candidate

Pro-Fluoride Platform

Surgeon Capt. J. W. Rogers of CFB Esquimalt announced Wednesday that fluoridation will be his platform when he seeks a council seat in Esquimalt's December elections.

He made the announcement after telling the Greater Victoria Metropolitan Board of Health the federal government would contribute $75,000 toward the cost of fluoridating all of the area's water supply.

However, Capt. Rogers said the question would first have to win majority support in a referendum. The department of defence wants fluoridated water supplied to its installations here.

Esquimalt is the only major municipality in the Greater Victoria area which does not control its own water supply. Capt. Rogers announced his intention to seek election last year, but withdrew from the race when it was discovered he did not have the property qualifications.

Stephen Feared Loss of New Parkland

Stump Fight 'Not Worth Risk'

If B.C. Hydro refuses to cut stump below ground level on the Thetis Lake Park right-of-way, it will be a "form of blackmail," a prominent area conservationist said Wednesday.

When permission was given to the power corporation to drive a 1,000-foot-long power line access route through the southern tip of the park more than a year ago, a condition of the agreement was that all trees be felled so that stumps were not visible.

On Tuesday, members of the parks committee were told that the Hydro authority wanted reconsideration of this clause of the agreement, that stumps be allowed.

RECOMMENDATION

Hydro wants tree felling permitted to a height convenient for a man with a chain saw.

The committee went along with the request and will recommend relaxation of the condition to city council.

Mayor Hugh Stephen said Tuesday that it was not worth risking the 49 acres of prime parkland, north of Thetis Park, which was exchanged by B.C. Hydro for the right-of-way. He said he felt the city should give way on the stump question.

NATURE WAR

Although he did not like the Hydro attitude, said Ald. Robert Baird, chairman of the council parks committee, he did not think the issue one "to go to war about."

Miss M. C. Melburn, secretary of the Thetis Park Nature Sanctuary Association, does not agree. In her opinion it is a matter to go to war about.

"It's a scandalous piece of trickery on the part of a provincial government corporation," Miss Melburn said Wednesday.

RE-OPEN CASE

Informed that no papers had been signed between the Hydro and the city, and that no work had been done on the 100-foot-wide route, Miss Melburn suggested that the whole question of allowing the Hydro to encroach on the parkland be re-opened.

"Allowing them in there was a mistake in the first place, but if they want to play rough, let's take another look at the whole issue," said Miss Melburn.

President of the Thetis sanctuary association, Eric H. Garman, agreed.

He questioned the mayor's statement that the 50 acres north of the park was in jeopardy.

"Even as Hydro-owned land, it is accessible to the public, and I certainly can't see it being disposed of by the corporation," said Mr. Garman.

If the city was looking for altruism from the B.C. Hydro, it was being short-sighted, said Mr. Garman. The authority's actions were governed by only one thing, and that was expediency. If the corporation thought it could save some money by crossing parkland instead of selecting an alternate route, there was no doubt which course of action it would choose, said the association president.

The surprising athletic prowess of British Columbia children has embarrassed the federal Centennial Commission and left many pupils without the recognition they were promised.

Thousands of athletic crests offered in a centennial physical fitness program have failed to arrive from the East.

Resthaven Getting Coronary Centre

The north end of the Saanich Peninsula will soon have a neighborhood coronary care centre.

It's a $3,600 installation at Resthaven Hospital, made possible mainly by the hospital's women's auxiliary.

"We have a high ratio of elderly people living in our area and we wanted to give them the best possible treatment when they come in with heart trouble," explained T. J. Bradley, the hospital's administrator.

The portable equipment has been set up in a special ward of Resthaven, which has an idyllic view of the sea.

"We are also pleased that we can give these people such locational therapy," added the administrator.

The equipment involves monitors that sound an alarm within seconds if a patient's heart acts abnormally. A nurse then rushes to the ward to attend the person.

Mrs. Charles Turner, president of the women's auxiliary, said her group was organized only one year ago and raised most of the money at a tea last spring.

In the meantime, Royal Jubilee and St. Joseph's are each planning four-bed coronary-care units. Money for the equipment is being raised by the Victoria Kiwanis Club.

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I am a social worker in the welfare department of a medium-sized city in California. Everywhere I go, when someone learns I'm in the welfare department, I get the same tiresome routine. It goes like this: "Why don't you get those chiselers off the relief rolls? I know of a case where the guy is working and collecting unemployment compensation."

Here's another one: "We are encouraging women to have illegitimate babies by giving them aid money for every kid they bring into the world. These no good tramps keep having a baby every year so they can collect the aid money."

I'd like to say something to everyone who "knows a case." Welfare agencies don't want to hand out money to chiselers. Please give us some real information like the names and addresses of the people instead of vague talk. We employ investigators whose job it is to check out fakery and fraud. If you will help us nail the fakers we'd appreciate it, but no more vague talk, please. — K.P.M.

Dear K.P.M.: I've heard the same chatter and I am not a welfare worker. Thank you for telling me what to say to these people.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a girl 17, one of five children, and thoroughly disgusted with my parents. Mom and Dad have been married 12 years and all they have ever done since I remember is fight, fight, fight. They throw things, yell, curse, and lock each other out of the house. What's more, they don't care who sees or hears them. The day after one of these disgusting knock-down, drag-out brawls they act like a couple of lovebirds. As if nothing happened. How can people be so changeable?

I've told my mother a dozen times that if she had an ounce of self-respect she would throw Dad out of the house. (He is the one who starts most of the fights.) She says, "You are right," but she never does anything about it. What can I do to get Mom to

Guild To Buy Sink

GANGES, B.C.—The quarterly meeting of St. Mark's Church Guild was held recently in the Sunday School Hall. Two new members were welcomed; Mrs. Campbell Carroll and Mrs. L. O. Tiffin. The president thanked Mrs. J. H. Deyell and her helpers for their work in convening the Guild stall at the Garden Fete, where the Guild raised the sum of $122.38. A similar vote of thanks was given to Miss F. Aikens and her committee for the decorations at St. Mark's Harvest Festival.

The new water tank at St. Mark's is now filled, and the Guild is working to raise additional funds to complete the installation of a sink and cupboards in the Sunday School Hall. For this purpose Mrs. S. A. Thompson has very kindly donated 200 hard-rod to be sold at 10 for $1.00. The cover picture is of St. Mark's-on-the-Hill. Plans are already being made for Christmas decorations at the church, when Mrs. J. R. Sturdy will be in charge.

A charming marquetrie picture has been made and donated by Mr. J. Pitts to be raffled in aid of church funds. The next meeting, which will be the annual meeting and election of officers, will take place on Jan. 17 at St. Mark's Hall. Tea was served by Mrs. Graham Shaw.

Some people get their kicks from fighting and making up. It's unfortunate that these kooks don't do their fighting out in the middle of the desert where they could scream their childish heads off and no one would hear them, but they seem to enjoy performing for an audience.

Applique of Guipure lace trimmed the bateau neckline and the full cathedral train of the floor-length taffeta gown worn by Lynda Arlene Brand when she became the bride of Craig Frederic Watson in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church.

The gown, fashioned with a belted skirt and sleeves ending in 111 points, was complemented by a cardinal illusion veil which misted from a self-fabric coronet. The bride carried a crescent bouquet of red roses and pink carnations.

Baskets of deep pink roses and chrysanthemums were at the altar and pink roses marked the guests' pews.

Vancouver Home For Newlyweds

Standard baskets filled with white chrysanthemums were at the altar rail in St. Luke's Church when Janet Mary Johns and Mr. Barry Charles Penrice were married recently.

Archdeacon C. E. F. Wolff officiated at the double ring ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Johns, 4700 Cordova Bay Road and the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Penrice of Vancouver.

The bride, given in marriage by her father looked beautiful in her gown of organza and Swiss embroidered lace. Deeply scalloped lace edged the elbow length sleeves and bodice. Matching lace applique and a border of lace enhanced the skirt with its long flowing train. A headpiece of satin roses held her Chantilly bouffant veil and she carried a bouquet of white roses, carnations, stephanotis and ivy.

The bridal attendants were Miss Gail Roper and the groom's sisters, Misses Darlene and Teresa Penrice. They wore floor length empire style sheaths fashioned with blue velvet bodices and blue sparkle crepe skirts. Their illusion net veils misted from blue flower headpieces and their pearl drops were a gift from the bride. White carnations and fern were in their cascade bouquets.

Mr. Tom Barry was best man and showing guests to pews were Mr. Josh Taguchi of Vancouver and Mr. David Thornley.

The reception was held at the Old England Inn where the bride's table, covered with hand crocheted cloth, was centred with a three-tiered cake, flowers and silver candelabra. Mr. C. Beard proposed the toast.

For a wedding trip to California the new Mrs. Penrice travelled in a slim sheath dress with pale turquoise, matching coat accessories. Her corsage was of white rhinestone buttons, match-red rosebuds. The couple will wear feather hat and black live in Vancouver.

Motor Trip To Banff

A motor trip to Jasper, Lake Louise and Banff followed the recent marriage of Anita June Pritchard and Mr. Palle Poulsen in St. George the Martyr Church, Cadboro Bay. The newly weds are now residing at 751 Canterbury Road.

Rev. N. S. Noel officiated at the wedding ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. E. Cooper 628 Dallas Road, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Poulsen, 840 Pemberton Road.

Miss Fran Coalston played the wedding music and Mr. Cooper gave the bride in marriage. An overlay of Chantilly lace on each side of the floor-length, redingote style skirt enhanced the bride's lovely white taffeta faille gown. A full train swept from a large back bow and the bride's four-tiered, scalloped veil misted from a French-made flower. She carried a bouquet of gladiolus and stephanotis, tipped in green, and a white orchid.

A-line gowns in a delicate shade of lime green were worn by the bride's attendants, Mrs. Mary Searle, matron of honor; Mrs. Hanne Williams, groom's sister, and Mrs. Beverly Cooper, bride's aunt, as bridesmaids. Little Miss Adrienne Cooper, flower girl, was in matching gown and carried a basket of gladiolus. Master Brent Cooper was page boy.

Mr. Richard Couch was best man and ushering guests to pews were Mr. Nells Poulsen, groom's brother, and Mr. Anthony Quinn.

Mr. J. E. Mills proposed the toast to his niece at the supper reception which followed in Holyrood House.

For travelling the bride wore a three-piece Italian-knit suit in moss green with beige accessories.

VANCOUVER (CP)—A Vancouver psychiatrist said Tuesday he has detected a new and dangerous type of child emerging as a sub-species of the new generation.

* * *

Taking their place alongside the hippies, freebies, hardrocks and greasers is "the teen-ager with psychopathic tendencies and the beginnings of a criminal mind," said Dr. Bennett Wong.

Dr. Wong was speaking to a YMCA meeting on the changing world of the pre-adult.

He said the new sub-species of youngsters are outwardly conformist in positions such as president of a student body but cannot feel love or respect and are out for their own gain and recognition.

"I am alarmed at seeing so many youngsters becoming psychopathic in their early teens," he said.

"There seems to be emerging a more dangerous type of child. Previously, you only found this type in the 18 to 21-year-old and older group."

Dr. Wong said the freebies are an evolutionary development of the hippies. They like to live in a non-materialistic, uncompetitive world with stress on individualism.

Hersheys are high school students who are ultra-conformist and the hardrocks and greasers are better known to adults as juvenile delinquents and vandals, he said.

Resthaven Hospital
First to Ask Press*Children's Centre Approved

The provincial government Wednesday approved a $250,000 capital grant for construction of the first phase of a new residential centre in Burnaby for emotionally disturbed children.

The centre will have 60 beds when completed — the first phase has 20 beds and is scheduled to begin operating next July 1 — and costs are being shared on a 50-50 basis by B.C. and Central City Mission, Vancouver. Director of the centre will be psychiatrist Dr. Bennett Wong.

The government also provided 12 acres of land, formerly owned by B.C. Hydro, adjoining Willingdon school for girls.

Resthaven Hospital at Sidney welcomes reporters to its board meetings, administrator T. J. Bradley said Wednesday.

It is the first general hospital in the Greater Victoria area to allow the press to attend its meetings.

Royal Jubilee and St. Joseph's boards meet in secret. Together, they spend about $10,000,000 in public funds each year.

Mr. Bradley said the next meeting of Resthaven's board will be at 3 p.m. Nov. 23, W. A. Street, former chairman of Vancouver General Hospital's board of directors, told hospital officials in Penticton two weeks ago they should allow the press to attend their meetings.

He said trustees have no right to hide behind the cloak of the medical profession — they discuss money, not patients.

Mr. Street said "hospital business is public business" and the policy of keeping reporters out of board meetings is "archaic."

No Date
In Mind
For Vote

Premier Bennett said Wednesday he has "no thought in mind" of setting a date in the near future for a byelection to fill the vacant South Vancouver seat in the legislature.

The vacancy was created by the death last month of Sacred Tom Bate.

Mr. Bennett brushed aside suggestions that his reluctance to call a byelection might be connected with the improved showing of the NDP in Tuesday's provincial election in Ontario.

Premier Roberts registered a "very good victory" in the contest, Mr. Bennett said, and despite the fact that the NDP came up to 20 seats, this was still below the 21 seats that party held in 1948 in a smaller legislature.

Although the Tory majority was reduced, he said, Ontario still had a well balanced house.

Military Schooling Discussed

Major-Gen. Roger Rowley, chairman of the Canadian Armed Forces Officer Development Group, is in Victoria for talks with officials and the faculty of Royal Roads.

He will be here until Saturday to discuss the education of officer officers.

An announcement said his visit "will provide ample opportunity for the Royal Roads faculty to make proposals in the area of military education."

Family Held At Gunpoint

PORT ALBERNI—A 35-year-old man armed with a rifle, held his estranged wife, their two young children, and his wife's relatives at bay overnight Tuesday in their house on Brown Street, Alberni.

The ordeal ended about 11 a.m. when the man permitted them to walk out unharmed. He said he intended shooting himself.

Port Alberni RCMP were called to the house, armed with teargas and a tracker dog from Nanaimo.

Police hurriedly telephoned nearby neighbors, warning them to stay clear.

Several officers calmly entered the house and called on the man to give himself up.

He surrendered without a struggle, and was taken to police headquarters.

Later Wednesday afternoon the man was taken to Vancouver's Riverview Mental Hospital in an RCMP Victoria-based amphibious aircraft.

A police spokesman said Wednesday night the man's name was being withheld because he had been committed to the institution.

Nanaimo Case

Sex Scene Described In Court

NANAIMO — A 40-year-old unmarried mill worker from Port Alberni testified Wednesday that a friend and his wife "showed me the facts of life" four times between 1963-67.

Giving evidence in the three-day-old assize court trial of Gladys Lillian Pitt, 41, who is charged with the attempted murder of her husband in their Parksville home, April 22, was Thomas Irving King.

King told the court, after Mr. Justice J. S. Atkins had ordered it cleared of the public, that two weeks before the incident he had sexual intercourse with Mrs. Pitt at the request of her husband.

He testified that two weeks prior to the attack he had gone to have a few beers with Mrs. Pitt's husband, Edward Harry Pitt, 43.

They returned home, and Mrs. Pitt appeared in the kitchen. The witness said she was dressed only in an undergarment.

King said the three then went to a party in Qualicum, but the party did not come about, so they returned home.

King said he was driving the car, and Mrs. Pitt tickled him through the seat from the back.

"I swerved a bit, so Ted told me to pull over, and he would drive."

The witness claimed Mrs. Pitt made sexual advances to him, and that these were encouraged by her husband.

Mrs. Pitt, who is charged with attempted murder, is alleged to have hit her husband on the skull with a hammer.

Pitt has undergone several operations, during which the right frontal lobe of his brain was removed.

King told the court "When we got back to their place, they said they were going to show me the facts of life."

He then described to the near-empty court further scenes of sexual activity.

When asked why he participated he said: "I was afraid of him — I don't know why — but I'd seen him in fits of temper."

Mrs. Pitt left her husband for about six weeks between 1963-64, after the first of the four episodes, court was told.

Crown prosecutor is Dave Williams, of Duncan.

THE GREAT CITY OF LONDON

a personally narrated colour movie by

FRAN WILLIAM HALL

In this century practically every decade has had its city. Today it is London... which has long been known and loved as one of the truly great cities of the world. Now seized by change, London has burst into bloom. A blend of ancient elegance and new opulence, the city is alive with beauty and birds (girls); buzzing with minicars and "telly" stars; pulsing with excitement. London is the place to go and Fran William Hall has made the scenes that show London's pendulum now swing with verve and elan.

Former Councillor A. E. Horner Dies

A former Saanich councillor and school trustee, Albert Edward Horner, died here Wednesday. He was 92.

Born in Whitby, Yorkshire, England in 1875, Mr. Horner came to Canada in 1911 to work in gardening for B.C. Horticultural Estates, which operated along the Thompson River.

From there he came to Saanich and settled on what is now Kilsber Avenue.

He was elected to Saanich council in 1920 and was representative on the Victoria-Saanich parks board.

FIRST NURSE

As a school trustee, Mr. Horner in his first year advocated the appointment of a school nurse with the appointment coming from the district.

Miss Kate McRae, chosen for the job, was probably the first public health nurse appointed in North America.

Recital Given Ovation

Soviet Pianist Excels

By BILL THOMAS

Soviet pianist Marina Mdivani opened the Victoria Symphony's recital series at the McPherson Playhouse to a near full house Wednesday, and was accorded an ovation.

Miss Mdivani has an excellent, if somewhat robust, technique, and it would be difficult to find fault with her playing on purely technical grounds.

While this pianist plays with vigor and precision that defy description, there are deficiencies in the poetry that the program calls for.

The Mozart fantasy in B Minor was perfectly executed, but it somehow lacked the sparkle and delicacy that are characteristic qualities of Mozart.

The Haydn sonata in F Major suffered in the same manner.

but it is significant to add that the audience completely forgave these shortcomings and applauded mightily.

Chopin and Prokofiev fared far better. The Prokofiev selection, Four Etudes, offered more lyricism and warmth than accorded the Mozart and Haydn, and it came as an agreeable surprise.

MASCULINE APPROACH

The supple fingers and strong forearms of Miss Mdivani are well able to cope with all the keyboard problems that this music offers, though to my mind she does demonstrate a quite masculine approach to the music.

The second half of the evening was given over to the Mussorgsky work pictures at an Exhibition. I find this music quite boring and reminiscent of a movie score that does not quite come off.

Saki Cups, Panties Lost To Expo Pavilion Thieves

OTTAWA (CP)—Visitors to Expo 67 this summer have pilfered pavilion exhibit articles from plant seeds to bikini panties, a group of Expo hosts and hostesses said Wednesday.

Several of the 26 hosts and hostesses making a one-day tour of Ottawa expect stealing will not worsen before Expo closes. During the last few days, they say, visitors will be closely watched.

Petite Mira Gopaul, 22, of Mauritius, said souvenir hunters have taken all the raffia seeds in one exhibit. The large seeds make good buttons.

People are "pinching" plates in the Scandinavian pavilion restaurant, said 27-year-old Ole Borrensen of Denmark. Two large Danish flags were taken at the beginning of the fair.

Blonde Anne De Cours, 22, a French Pavilion hostess, said many of the staff's personal belongings have been taken, as well as books from the pavilion's special exhibit.

Panties from a bikini bathing suit, a pair of men's trousers, a shoe were the odd collection stolen from Switzerland's fashion and textile display.

Tamako Matsuki, 22, of Japan, was amazed that someone was able to make off with expensive golf clubs. Cutlery, small saki cups and even a "please do not touch" sign disappeared from her pavilion.

"People would come back time after time to pick up another saki cup."

The United States pavilion, although missing a dress once worn by Marilyn Monroe, was relatively free of pilfering, said 21-year-old Nancy Abuza.

"With the millions of people at Expo, only a very small number must have been taking things," she said. "Otherwise there would have been nothing left after a few months. In general, people have been very considerate."

Bigger Acreage Needed

Wine Should Be Used as Food

KELOWNA (CP)—Wine should be used as a food, Agriculture Minister Richter said Wednesday.

The provincial minister, attending opening ceremonies of a new winery near here, said Canadians have looked upon wine as a cheap intoxicant. But in Europe it is used as a food and this is "the real sense in which it should be used."

Richter said farmers will have to expand greatly their 1,500 acres output of grapes to meet the needs of wineries as a taste for wine develops. He said he expected that within seven years built under the federal arca 6,000 acres of grapes will be development incentive plan.

Garden Notes

Bulbs Appraised

By M. V. CHESNUT

One problem that bothers even the most experienced gardeners is how to choose among the many new plants that are bred and offered to the public every year. I imagine there must be well over 100 new roses registered annually, and probably as many new gladioli, sweet peas, peonies and other plants. How is one to know which of these newcomers are tops in their classes?

Some fine work is being done to resolve this confusion by the specialist flower societies who grow and test the new varieties as they come out, reporting on which are best. With gladioli, for instance, the American Gladiolus Society tries out all the new varieties in test gardens scattered through the various climate zones in the United States and Canada, and it is part of my job every year to report in this column which varieties have been honored with the jealously guarded appellation, All-American Gladiolus.

In the same way, the American Rose Society and the National Rose Society of Great Britain grow and appraise the new roses, rating them for beauty of form and coloring, freedom from disease and weather resistance. The Peony Society, the Iris Society, the National Sweet Pea Society and the Scottish Sweet Pea Trials all perform this same work of testing and rating new varieties, all for the guidance of ordinary backyard gardeners.

It isn't so generally known, though, that Dutch bulbs undergo the same grueling tests and are rated in much the same way. Planted in the world-famous Keukenhof gardens near Lisse, Holland — this is the world's largest bulb garden — the bulbs are grown under the sponsorship of the Netherlands Flower Bulb Institute, and the flowers are judged and rated by visiting horticultural experts during the spring blossoming period. Of the bulbs that bloomed on the 62-acre estate at Keukenhof last spring, ten tulips were chosen to be so honored, together with one daffodil and one hyacinth.

Winner in the Darwin class of tulips is GANDER, a bright magenta flower with stiff, erect stems and goblet-shaped blooms. Of the Darwin Hybrids, the "most admired" is LONDON, blood red tinted with scarlet and with exceptionally large flowers. Tops in the Triumph class of tulips is ARABIAN MYSTERY, deep violet-purple with a white edging to the petals.

From the Lily-flowered class of tulips, WEST POINT was selected by the Keukenhof visitors as their favorite. This one is primrose yellow, with long pointed petals on graceful stems. The beloved Cottage class produced two winners: BALALAIKA in bright red with a yellow base, and MAUREEN, a white delicately flushed with ivory.

KAREL DOORMAN, a Parrot tulip, is cherry red with an edging of creamy yellow. In the Fosteriana class, visitors were unanimous in selecting CANTATA, a very bright vermilion red with beautifully sculptured flowers. YELLOW DAWN is a Greigii hybrid, deep yellow with purple-red base and blotches of carmine red, and with purple-variegated foliage. Also with variegated foliage is JOHANN STRUSS, a Kaufmanniana (waterlily) tulip, ivory with a flush of soft red through the centre of the petals.

Most admired hyacinth this year was PINK PEARL, a fine clean pink with no hint of muddiness in its coloring, producing a broad spike with florets set very close together.

The winning daffodil for 1967 is YELLOW SUN, one of the large-cupped kind. The outer petals are clear yellow and the flaring cup is pure gold. The flowers are almost half again as large as the average garden daffodil.

ART BUCHWALD Among the Peasants

Teaching China a Lesson

U.S. Secretary of State

Dean Rusk announced last week at his conference, that the real reason the U.S. is fighting in Vietnam is to contain Red China.

This came as good news to the Vietnamese people, many of whom are still not too sure what the war is all about.

Two Vietnamese peasants were huddled in a foxhole, during a bombing raid.

"Say," said one of them to the other. "Did you hear the good news. This war has nothing to do with us. It's really between China and the United States."

"No kidding," the other peasant said, hugging the earth as a bomb exploded. "Where did you hear that?"

"On the radio. You see the reason why the United States is fighting in Vietnam is to contain China's expansionist ambitions. This is America's way of telling China to keep their hands off Southeast Asia."

Another bomb exploded. "I wish there was another way of doing it," the peasant said.

"That's the trouble with you Dao. You never can see the big picture. If the U.S. doesn't show that it's willing to honor its commitments in Vietnam, then every country in Southeast Asia will fall."

A bomb hit a hut about 100 feet from the foxhole. "I guess I'm just selfish at heart," Dao said. "I really can't get too excited about what is happening in the rest of Southeast Asia at the moment."

"Do, I'm surprised at you. There are one billion Chinese people and they are committed to taking over one billion free people, and if it weren't for the U.S. bombing us, they would do it tomorrow."

Several fields caught on fire.

"Okay I grant you that the free world has a great stake in Vietnam. But even so I don't enjoy being bombed."

"Nobody likes being bombed. But once you understand the reasons behind it, then it all makes sense."

"If this is really a contest between the United States and China, why don't the Americans bomb China, instead of us?"

"Because that would get China into the war, and the United States doesn't want China in the war, stupid."

"Don't call me stupid. I don't see why we should be bombed just because the United States doesn't want to bomb China."

"Good grief Dao, do you want to remain a peasant all your life? Secretary Rusk has spelled it out as clearly as possible. He's even willing to stop the bombing if Hanoi will go to the conference table."

"Why won't Hanoi go to the conference table?"

"Because if it does the Chinese will lose face."

"I was afraid of that."

Another bomb exploded — a few feet from the foxhole and dirt fell on both men.

Dao said "When did Rusk say the Chinese would see reason so he wouldn't have to bomb us anymore?"

"He said he wasn't sure, but possibly in the next generation."

The Little World of SHEILAH GRAHAM

Lovers Make News

LONDON (NANA) — Love was blooming all over the blooming place at the premiere of Thoroughly Modern Millie in the new Rank Odeon theatre in Leicester Square. And plenty of news. First Love: Nancy Sinatra did not say "No" when producer Ross Hunter proposed to her again after the successful showing of his film "She Said 'Wait'." Ross told me at the party attended by celebrities and stars including three from the film, Bea Lillie with long-time escort and manager John Phillips, Mary Tyler Moore, and James Fox.

And David Hemmings with Gayle Hunnicutt. "Are you married or are you not?" I asked them. "We are," they replied. "Where and when?" I demanded. "On September 21st in the south of Italy near Sorrento," Gayle assured me. There had been a story that the marriage was invalid because of something to do with a non-denominational ceremony. But they looked me straight in both eyes when they said they were well and truly tied. (Just to make sure, they'll be married again.) "And we're going to make a romantic film together in the spring in la," said David embracing his wife for the photographers and giving her the kiss they demanded.

As for Ross Hunter and Mrs. Sinatra, Semler, Ross confided, "We were all set to marry when Nancy's youngest daughter, Tina, was engaged. We planned to marry two weeks after her wedding. But when the engagement fell through, Nancy said we'd have to wait, as she said again on the night of the Millie premiere." Mrs. Sinatra was the hostess at Hunter's party, receiving the guests just like they were a married couple.

At the theatre, James Fox was beside me and playwright Lionel Bart in front of me. From James I learned that the Young Mr. Churchill movie for Carl Foreman has been postponed until 1968. "There is no script or director yet," he told me. . . . Bart is finishing two musicals based on well-known stories, The Hunchback of Notre Dame ("I have to pull the star of the London Fiddler on the Roof for Quasimodo"), which opens in the West End in March, and a musical version of La Strada. Anthony Quinn wants to recreate on stage the part he played in the film, he said. Lionel wore a deep-blue velvet Mississippi gambler's chapeau. Fox sported a glittering white dinner jacket and the Universal executives present sported enormous smiles because the box-office advance is £20,000 ($56,000) — a record for this part of the world.

During the evening, I learned that Ringo Starr will work one week only in Terry Southern's Candy, with Marko Brande and Richard Burton, to start on the continent next month. . . . that the Beatles' A Hard Day's Night has been bought by NBC for more than $2,000,000, and that the Walter Shenson-produced picture, which cost $500,000 has already earned $11,000,000 apart from the NBC deal. There will be a similar deal next year for the second Beatle picture, Help. And that Bea Lillie received the biggest ovation at the Millie showing.

We Believe—in Ads

By DR. STUART ROSENBERG

His preachers and teachers advise him to believe. They urge him to improve himself, advance himself, become himself.

But pity the average beleaguered North American. He hasn't a chance. He believes — in his preachers and his teachers — but the ads.

So his preachers and teachers go on reminding him of his duties: to improve, to advance, to become a self. He listens. But their words fall upon ears closely tuned to different channels.

Improvement no longer means deepening of character, opening-up to the world, or cultivation of delicate and sensitive faculties of perception.

Advancement has little to do with breadth of mind, outreach of heart, or a magnanimous embrace of ideals. Becoming a self means being a statistical cipher, wearing a uniform, looking like all the other "un-becoming" selves.

We believe. And what have our new beliefs made of us? S. I. Hayakawa describes what has become of the "modern believer."

"Because he believes the ads he thinks:

● That human personality is the clothes you wear, the gadgets you own, the car you drive.

● That human desires exist to be gratified as soon and as lavishly as possible. Why do without? Why wait?

● That everyone is looking at his possessions as eagerly and anxiously as he is looking at theirs.

● That it isn't your work that counts, it's how much you make.

● Correction: It isn't how much you make that counts, but how much credit you can get.

● That moonlighting in order to make more money to pay for a new car and wall-to-wall carpeting and a power-mower is raising the family standard of living, and therefore doing your duty as a parent. . . .

All of this attention to "the new theology" keeps us from paying any heed to what the preachers and teachers are saying. Result: indifference to politics and religion, radical unconcern with the fundamental of personal and social living by myriads of "believers" eagerly seeking to escape into success.

This apathy has led to sameness — in the interior as well as in the exterior environments. Social decay is countenanced, poverty tolerated, prejudice endured — and all because we've become bored with the real issues of life.

Neutrality, non-involvement with the core questions — these, are too often the result, of the heavy static caused by the commercials.

We don't hear what we should, because we've invested too much of our attention in new preachers — and their self-advertisements are so shrill and glittering that we can't take our minds off of them.

But don't get us wrong. We believe — in the ads.

MP Fights for Eskimo Radio

OTTAWA (CP) — Inuit Neepingit, a radio station operated by Eskimos in Pond Inlet on Baffin Island, has been ordered off the air by the federal transport department. Bud Orange (L-Northwest Territories) tried to find out why in the Commons Wednesday. But his questions on the Arctic broadcasting outlet some 2,000 miles north of Montreal were ruled out of order by Speaker Lucien Lamoureux.

Operating in the Canadian North without a licence. They apparently are tolerated as long as they do not interfere with communications systems or with broadcasting signals from other countries. Inuit Neepingit or in English, the Voice of the Eskimos, still continues to broadcast disc jockey shows and news items such as the coming of doctors and dentists so that hunters in the camps can bring the family into the settlement for treatment. Orange, administrator of the Mackenzie district until elected to the Commons in 1965, said efforts of Baker Lake Eskimos to launch a station in the Kewatin are a good example of how red tape is strangling Eskimo initiative and forcing communities to operate pirate stations. He said the community association there wanted to establish a station as a centennial project and went about it "the proper way." They started in June, 1966. Despite a mass of correspondence, they still have no station. The transport department at one point chided the community of about 400 for its brief seeking the station, saying it should have been made out by a recognized broadcasting consultant firm and four copies of it, not one, should have been supplied. Such demands are unrealistic in the North, Orange said, adding that he will continue to battle for Inuit Neepingit.

Bride, 16, Facing Bank Charge Too

Janet May Raymond, the 16-year-old wife of the man charged with armed robbery Friday of the Bank of Montreal at 1711 Fort, appeared in central magistrate's court Wednesday similarly charged.

Mrs. Raymond was remanded to today while prosecutor Cory Stolte investigates the wording of the charge.

She is charged that she did "unlawfully aid Carl G. Raymond in the commission of a robbery and did thereby commit robbery."

Raymond is also scheduled to appear in court today to select his method of trial. Mrs. Raymond was elevated from juvenile court Tuesday.

The bank was held up Friday morning by an armed bandit who stole $1,655. The money has since been recovered.

Both defendants are seeking legal aid and neither has asked for bail. Both gave 2211 Ida as their address.

Raymond McCormick, 1279 Pembroke, was sentenced to two months in jail for obtaining lodgings by fraud. He pleaded guilty.

McCormick ran up a $106 bill at the Empress Hotel last May and paid it with a worthless cheque, receiving an additional $20 in cash. He was convicted in 1965 of forgery and false pretences.

Eighteen-year-old David Robert Cole, 1003 Vancouver, was remanded to Oct. 25 for sentence after pleading guilty to car theft.

Constable Lynn Kraeling said Cole and another youth went to Empress Motors used car lot Oct. 8. Cole acted as a lookout while his companion stole a car.

Both took turns driving the car, which was recovered on Hillside undamaged, court was told.

Sentence Cut After Youth Appeals

The sentence of Martin Baker was reduced Wednesday in the B.C. Appeal Court by a panel of three judges. The young offender will serve six months in jail for possession of marijuana.

The three judges — Chief Justice H. W. Davy of the Appeal Court; Mr. Justice A. E. Lord and Mr. Justice C. W. Tysoe — all agreed to drop the 12-month indefinite period from the original sentence.

Baker has already served four months and three days at the forestry camp at Lakeview.

Baker was found guilty of possession of marijuana by a Supreme Court jury last June and was sentenced by Mr. Justice George Gregory.

He was undefended Wednesday and spoke for himself at his appeal. He said he wanted to finish his schooling when he was released and didn't think the forestry camp was helping him to that end.

Chief Justice Davy told Baker the 12-month indefinite sentence was usually for the rehabilitation of the offender and could lead to parole, during which time it was hoped he would mature and re-establish himself.

His secret gin recipe isn't a secret anymore.

In 1769, a Highland Scot named Alexander Gordon arrived in London. And started, of all things, a gin distillery.

Soon, Mr. Gordon was making the finest gin the English had ever tasted.

From a secret recipe known only to him. (And later, only to his descendants.)

Now, 200 years later, Gordon's Gin is still made exactly the same.

Only now, it's the largest selling gin in the world. Made in nine countries, including Canada.

To make sure its wonderful taste never varied from place to place, however, we had to let nine other people in on the secret.

We hope you won't hold it against us. After all, Alexander Gordon didn't keep his secret either.

Suicide Prevention by Phone

Caring Saves Lives

VANCOUVER (CP) — The man who turned a personal one-man suicide prevention service into a world-wide operation involving 10,000 volunteers wants to start a similar service in Vancouver.

Rev. Chad Varah of London said in an interview here Tuesday that Vancouver should have his kind of suicide prevention service and he would like to start one in the city.

"Every city should have this service and Vancouver is no exception," the 55-year-old minister said.

His group, called the Samaritans, operate telephone answering services in more than 30 countries around the world.

A volunteer answers calls to the group's advertised number and talks to the potential suicide victim.

"The caller finally realizes that someone, the volunteer in this case, really cares if he dies. The caller feels wanted often for the first time in his life."

Mr. Varah said this is the most sensible alternative to the biggest cause of suicide which he called loneliness.

Mr. Varah stopped briefly in Vancouver before leaving Tuesday for a Suicide Prevention Convention in Los Angeles.

He arrived from Toronto where the first Canadian Samaritan service begins with 60 volunteers Nov. 1.

Paper Denies Story Liberal 'Plant'

TORONTO (CP)—The Star Weekly said Wednesday it is prepared to pay $100,000 to any party "is simply ridiculous."

The decision to publish the article was, of course, an editorial one," Mr. Honderich's statement said. "It was based, as are all such decisions, on The Star Weekly's desire to be as informative as possible to its readers on matters of topical importance."

The magazine said that Van Horne, in a Wednesday broadcast over CHSJ Saint John, claimed the article in its current issue is libelous and was planted "in a deliberate attempt to thwart the outcome" of next Monday's provincial election in New Brunswick.

Mr. Van Horne was quoted as saying it is standard procedure for the Liberal party "to publish planted libelous and slanderous articles a few days before the election, and after the election make great apologies in an effort to avoid legal action."

Beland Honderich, president and publisher of The Star, said Mr. Van Horne's statement to the effect that The Star Weekly

Did Dosco Breach Federal-Aid Pact?

By RON COLLISTER
Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — The government is holding the threat of a breach-of-contract lawsuit over the Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation.

Both Justice Minister Trudeau and Health Minister MacEachen confirmed Wednesday that the government's aid-to-Dosco agreements are being studied to establish if there is a breach of contract.

MADE PITCH
This is a powerful new weapon for the government in its battle with Dosco over the closing down of its Sydney, N.S., steel plant.

Several years ago, Dosco was having trouble borrowing money for expansion and made a pitch to the federal and provincial governments.

In a series of agreements signed May 25 this year, the federal government department gave Dosco $1,700,000 to modernize its century-old wharf facilities.

Through the Atlantic Development Board, it gave another $2,000,000 to install modern bulk-handling facilities, matched by $2,000,000 from the provincial government.

In all, Dosco picked up $5,700,000, which it promised to repay on a per-ton-handled basis.

EXAMINE STATE

Government sources said they will have to examine the state of the contracts, but it is unlikely that Dosco has paid back much of the loan already.

In addition, Dosco promised to invest $5,700,000 of its own money in a four-year modernization program, starting May 25 this year.

Dosco officials are reported to have claimed that this money has been invested.

In the Commons Wednesday, the Dosco affair continued to dominate the session.

Donald MacInnis, Cape Breton Conservative, asked the prime minister if the government had formulated plans for phasing out the Sydney steel operation.

Pearson hedged on whether or not the government was committed to phasing it out.

"We are working out plans for the protection of the interests of the workers, especially in the Sydney steel plant," he replied.

MISCONSTRUED
"Those are the plans with which we are preoccupied at the moment," MacInnis asked if Pearson's reply was support for the statements of Industry Minister Drury or a denial of Forestry Minister Sauve's statements.

Sauve Wednesday stood in the Commons.

NEW HOUSING HELP COMING NEXT YEAR

By IAN STREET, Legislative Reporter

New legislation to encourage the building of more private homes in B.C. will be introduced at the legislative session which opens in January, Premier Bennett said Wednesday.

Nothing Special For French

B.C. has flatly rejected Prime Minister Pearson's suggestion that French-Canadians should be able to feel at home linguistically and culturally anywhere in Canada.

When the question was raised with Premier Bennett here Wednesday, he said, "Pearson has messed this thing up bad enough now without interfering with other provinces."

Asked to explain what he meant by "messed up," Bennett said he had nothing more to say on this subject.

NO OBJECTION
A few minutes earlier, however, he made it clear that B.C. had no intention of following the lead of Ontario Premier Robarts in his willingness to set up some high schools in which French is the language of instruction.

Bennett said he had no objection if an individual school board wanted to expand the teaching of French.

When asked about the Ontario French education plan, Bennett replied: "He (Robarts) lost a lot of support in his election yesterday."

ONE PUBLIC SYSTEM
The premier added: "In B.C. we have one public school education system in which any student by choice may learn French. No separate schools, whether parochial or private, are financed by the provincial treasury."

This policy was established before B.C. joined Confederation, said Bennett, and was not aimed at parochial schools but against those who wished to have "a state church and schools of the English faith."

NORTH AMERICAN FACT
It was the decision of the people, he said, to have a non-sectarian school system where everybody could attend.

Bennett said Quebec's current situation was a result of its own choice.

Cardinal Rejects Exile in Rome

ROME (UPI)—Jozsef Cardinal Mindszenty stood firm against what was described as pressure from both the Vatican and the United States Wednesday and refused to leave Budapest for exile in Rome, Hungarian sources reported.

The Roman Catholic primate of Hungary was said to have demanded unacceptable concessions from the Communist government and a "dignified" departure.

"I am sorry I am alone," Franz Cardinal Koenig of Austria said during a Munich stop-over as he flew back to Rome from a Budapest mission aimed at persuading Cardinal Mindszenty to leave Hungary and accept permanent exile here.

DEMANDS CLEARANCE

Cardinal Mindszenty, 76, was convicted of treason in Budapest in 1949 and has been a political refugee in the U.S. legation in the Hungarian capital for 11 years since the days of the bloody "Freedom" revolt.

He has always demanded clearance of the treason charges.

Cardinal Koenig, representing Pope Paul, was reported to have joined American diplomats in urging Cardinal Mindszenty to get out of Hungary and to have participated in talks with the Hungarian government toward an agreement clearing the way for his departure.

Authoritative sources said the talks had broken down "at least temporarily" after a near solution did not work out.

Qualified informants said the talks would continue with the United States taking an active role.

Labor Charges

Red Conspiracy Threatening U.K. Economy

LONDON (CP)—Both Prime Minister Wilson and Labor Minister Ray Gunter Wednesday said a Communist conspiracy is threatening the economy of Britain.

Delivering the government's first accusation against the Communists—against a background of wildcat strikes and work slowdowns that have made idle more than a quarter of Britain's longshoremen—Gunter said:

"There now is little doubt the Communist party is planning to make this a winter of disruption."

'DESTROY HOPES'

"Their aim is to destroy our hopes of economic recovery and thereby they hope to bring ruin to the social democratic movement."

In a speech to businessmen later, Wilson said the Communists are threatening "the successful working of industrial democracy in this country."

Referring to the wildcat strikes by longshoremen at London and Liverpool—now in their fifth week—Wilson said: "No one can look at Britain's export trade at this moment without being shocked by the fact that a large volume of exports... lie in warehouses awaiting shipment."

ACTION HINTED

Both Wilson and Gunter hinted action eventually may be necessary to bring the wildcat strikes to an end.

But officials stressed there

Living Cost Boosts Pensions

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal government Wednesday confirmed there will be a two-per-cent cost-of-living increase in old age pensions starting Jan. 1.

Welfare Minister MacEachen announced the basic pension for 1,360,000 people will rise by $1.50 a month to $76.50 under the first application of the formula linking pensions to cost of living.

The cost of living rose two per cent in the 1966-67 base year, giving pensioners the maximum annual increase permitted under the new system.

Also affected is the old age supplement for the needy, whose $30 a month maximum goes up by 60 cents.

Death of his father ended Andy Hebert's all-time team hockey record Wednesday as 1,988 consecutive games over 15 years in the National and Western hockey leagues.

'It Wasn't a Fun Year For Indians and Poor'

SASKATOON (CP)—Alan Clarke, executive director of the Company of Young Canadians, says Canadians should do more than just talk about existing social conditions.

He told the annual meeting of the Saskatchewan Parks and Recreation Association, "It was not a fun year for the Canadian Indian, the Negro in Nova Scotia, for families trapped in urban slums or for the more than 1,000,000 adult Canadians who are functionally illiterate."

*******

Canada is both a have and a have-not country in which the ordinary Canadian often is the victim, rather than the agent or beneficiary, of social progress, he said.

Many young people are starting to act to supplement the talk about conditions. They are joining groups such as the CYC to work in many areas to bring about changes.

Commenting on reaction to what is being described as "beards and long hairs" in the CYC, Clarke said "preliminary surveys indicate that the per capita number of beards and long hairs in the CYC is far less than in the photograph of the fathers of Confederation taken at Charlottetown."

He asked Canadians over 25 to take a close look at existing organizations to make sure their work is fulfilling its objectives.

"And one other thing that the older generation has to do is to begin to respect and learn from the differences in people in this country."

Old Store Eyesore

By JEAN MacGREGOR

LAKE COWICHAN—A flood control plan for the Cowichan River may be the first big job laid on the table before the new Cowichan Valley Regional District.

The chamber of commerce here discussed rumors and proposals for easing the annual flooding problem.

Directors decided flood control should be left for the new regional district board, sworn into office last week.

Director Allan Anderson said he had heard rumours about the possible dredging of the Cowichan River.

He said "Islands in the river have been cleared of brush, and now there is talk of dredging the river."

"Residents who live along the river, including myself, are very concerned about this. "It could change the course of the river and pose a hazard for people along the river."

Adam Kral of Pacific Logging said his company had removed the brush and debris from the islands, with the approval of the fisheries department.

He said "No dredging has been done in the river, no islands have been removed, and as far as I know, no dredging will be carried out for the time being."

Director Gordon Loutet, stated, "With the present tightening of government spending, no major expenditure will be carried out in the near future."

"We will certainly hear about any large projects for flood control and dredging of the Cowichan River long before it happens."

Chamber secretary Harold Cooper, will write to the village council about an unused store in the village.

Director Elmer Tenney told members an old store which has been here for many years is an eyesore.

Director Mrs. Allan Anderson warned members against purchasing Christmas cards from a brochure which is presently being distributed in the mail.

She said the brochure advertised the sale of Christmas cards for retarded children.

Mrs. Anderson stated, "I checked with the local Retarded Children's chapter, who in turn checked with the Vancouver headquarters and the Vancouver group said they could not find out anything about the Christmas cards."

"The sale of these cards is not part of the official program of the B.C. Association for Retarded Children."

Family Held At Gunpoint

PORT ALBERNI—A 35-year-old man armed with a rifle, held his estranged wife, their two young children, and his wife's relatives at bay overnight Tuesday in their house on Brown Street, Alberni.

Their ordeal ended about 11 a.m. when the man permitted them to walk out unharmed. He said he intended shooting himself.

Port Alberni RCMP were called to the house, armed with teargas and a tracker dog from Nanaimo.

Police hurriedly telephoned nearby neighbors, warning them to stay clear.

Several officers calmly entered the house and called on the man to give himself up.

He surrendered without a struggle, and was taken to police headquarters.

Later Wednesday afternoon the man was taken to Vancouver's Riverview Mental Hospital in an RCMP Victoria-based amphibian aircraft.

A police spokesman said Wednesday night the man's name was being withheld because he had been committed to the institution.

Park Project Will Honor Indians

This is front of Long House planned for new $40,000 Quamichan Lake park development. Three-stage project, organized by Duncan Kinsmen, has won support from North Cowichan recreation commission. Park will be called Art Mann Kin Park. Club paid $1,000 for artist's sketches like this one.

Sex Scene Outlined In Court

NANAIMO — A 40-year-old unmarried mill worker from Port Alberni testified Wednesday that a friend and his wife

"showed me the facts of life" four times between 1963-67.

Giving evidence in the three-day-old assize court trial of Gladys Lillian Pitt, 41, who is charged with the attempted murder of her husband in their Parksville home April 22, was Thomas Irving King.

King told the court, after Mr. Justice J. S. Atkins had ordered it cleared of the public, that two weeks before the incident he had sexual intercourse with Mrs. Pitt at the request of her husband.

He testified that two weeks prior to the attack he had gone to have a few beers with Mrs. Pitt's husband, Edward Harry Pitt, 45.

They returned home, and Mrs. Pitt appeared in the kitchen. The witness said she was dressed only in an undergarment.

King said the three then went to a party in Qualicum, but the party did not come about, so they returned home.

King said he was driving the car, and Mrs. Pitt tickled him through the seat from the back.

"I swerved a bit, so Ted told me to pull over, and he would drive."

The witness claimed Mrs. Pitt made sexual advances to him, and that these were encouraged by her husband.

Mrs. Pitt, who is charged with attempted murder, is alleged to have hit her husband on the skull with a hammer.

Pitt has undergone several operations, during which the right frontal lobe of his brain was removed.

King told the court "When we got back to their place, they said they were going to show me the facts of life."

He then described to the near-empty court further scenes of sexual activity.

When asked why he participated he said:

"I was afraid of him — I don't know why — but I'd seen him in fits of temper."

Mrs. Pitt left her husband for about six weeks between 1963-64, after the first of the four episodes, court was told.

Crown prosecutor is Dave Williams, of Duncan.

Parksville RCMP Constable Ron Wesner told the court he had gone to the Pitt home after a call.

He has seen a man lying on the bed with head wounds.

He went back out to the car and sent through a call and returned to the house, where he asked Mrs. Pitt for a bandage.

She gave him one and he placed it on Pitt's head. He was groaning at the time, Constable Wesner said.

Pulp Fight

Officers Hold Two Jobs

A bombshell has exploded in the fight between pulp union rivals with the announcement in Prince George that three top officials of the International union hold similar office in the Canadian union.

No Denial

The acting president of the Pulp-Sulphite Local 1 admitted Tuesday he and three other officers hold similar jobs with the rival body.

The dual roles were disclosed Monday by Peter Marshall, an international organizer of the International Brotherhood of Pulp Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers.

Marshall said acting president Len Shankel of the international union's Local 612, vice-president George Smith, secretary Mickey Finnigan and treasurer Noel Noble hold identical posts with the Pulp and Paper Workers of Canada.

'Made No Bones'

"Yes, that's true," said Mr. Shankel when asked about the allegations. "We've never made any bones about it."

Shankel said the international organizer knew he and the other three men "have always been for the Canadian union" and still swore them in as international officers.

Shankel said he and the other officers conduct regular meetings of Local 9 of the Canadian union as well as those of Local 612 of the international.

Marshall said an election of officers for Local 612 will take place sometime in November.

A bid by the Canadian union to wrest certification from the International at two pulp mills here was rejected in September by the Labor Relations Board.

'No More Grants This Year'

Chamber's Finances Poorer

DUNCAN—"We are not going to get any more grants this year," said director Sam Keeble to Duncan-Cowichan Chamber members, Wednesday.

"And if we do not get some new members by the end of the year, we are going to be in worse financial difficulties."

This summer, the chamber tourist bureau was not kept open at night and on Saturdays during the peak tourist season because the chamber could not afford to keep the bureau open.

Statistics showed the chamber bureau has lost business this summer because of the closing.

This summer the extra bureau

Secretary Art Stevenson said the number of visitors from January to September this year had dropped 24 per cent over 1966.

This year 2,535 visitors came to the bureau, while last year's figures were 3,331.

This summer the extra bureau hours were only carried out for three weeks in July. Last year the bureau was open at night and on Saturdays from mid-June to Sept. 15.

Mr. Stevenson said local callers to the bureau had increased by five per cent over last year.

over-all picture, the bureau business is up about five per cent over last year.

Mr. Keeble said the tourist business has been estimated to be considerably increased over last year on Vancouver Island.

He told directors "Our economy test this year has proved it is necessary to open the bureau at nights and on Saturdays and possibly even Sundays during the summer months."

"We have got to have more money to operate. Our proposed 1968 budget is going before the Duncan and North Cowichan councils in preparation to ask for additional funds to operate the chamber the way it should be operated."

Reeve Donald Morton indicated council probably would be accused of chasing away people by trying to make what users pay.

The Chemainus and Duncan chambers' requests for increased grants will be further discussed by the budget committee.

The Chemainus chamber would like to see its grant increased from $125 to $500, and the Duncan chamber is asking for a $1,000 grant next year.

In 1967 the Duncan chamber received a $500 grant from North Cowichan.

A request from the Legion at Chemainus to acquire a lot from the municipality for a old person's home, was tabled for further discussion.

Land Needed

Council agreed the attempts of the Legion to ease one of the important problems should be encouraged, but the reeve said municipal land may be needed next year for other purposes.

The Legion asked to buy a lot adjacent to Legion property which would make the construction of the home possible.

"It is just what we would like here," Reeve Morton said, and Coun. Smith added the municipality could trade the Legion's lot for two others elsewhere, which would be just as convenient.

NORTH COWICHAN — Council will not lease the government wharf at Chemainus.

The request to lease came from the Department of Transport, which advised council Wednesday afternoon that 10 E.C. municipalities had leased wharves from the federal government.

Coun. Gerry Smith warned "We should not even touch it, it would be a real burden and headache."

He explained there would be no hope of gaining any revenue because fishboats can tie up free of charge for 24 hours.

He said the last wharf manager's services proved to be unsatisfactory.

Coun. Dennis Hogan suggested the request should be studied, but he was overruled.

Alberni Region Checks New Land Regulations

By MARY TAYLOR

PORT ALBERNI — Planning is a slow process, because very careful consideration is being given to decisions which might be changed later.

Samples of building regulations and zoning bylaws submitted by W. H. Blakeney, planning consultant to the Alberni-Clayoquot Regional District will be receiving much consideration before implementation.

Charles Blair, chairman of the district, explained the planning situation.

"Regulations which will be enforced in unorganized territory, that is all areas in our regional district except Alberni and Port Alberni, Tofino and Ucluelet, must also be submitted to the provincial technical committee for approval," Mr. Blair said.

"It is a slow process and must be gone into with great care, but will contribute much to the orderly development of the unorganized territories surrounding the four communities."

The convenient location and the amount of space available would be excellent for the administrative offices and the planning division, which are emerging from regional district concept.

A meeting of the new regional hospital board followed the regional district meeting.

According to the provincial act, the group must appoint a hospital advisory committee to study the needs and the priorities of the hospitals within the region.

Four members of the regional district board were designated as a special committee to select members of the advisory committee.

Tom Gibson, delegate from Tofino, Dick Poole of Ucluelet, Les McKinnon of Cherry Creek and Jim Macfie of Port Alberni will choose the advisory board, which is not chosen from present board members, but from knowledgeable members of the district at large.

Did Dosco Breach Federal-Aid Pact?

By RON COLLISTER
Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — The government is holding the threat of a breach-of-contract lawsuit over the Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation.

Both Justice Minister Trudeau and Health Minister MacEachen confirmed Wednesday that the government's aid-to-Dosco agreements are being studied to establish if there is a breach of contract.

MADE PITCH

This is a powerful new weapon for the government in its tussle with Dosco over the closing down of its Sydney, N.S., steel plant.

Several years ago, Dosco was having trouble borrowing money for expansion and made a pitch to "the federal and provincial governments."

In a series of agreements signed May 25 this year, the federal transport department gave Dosco $1,700,000 to modernize its century-old wharf facilities.

Through the Atlantic Development Board, it gave another $2,000,000 to install modern bulk-handling facilities, matched by $2,000,000 from the provincial government.

In all, Dosco picked up $5,700,000, which it promised to repay on a per-ton-handled basis.

EXAMINE STATE

Government sources said they will have to examine the state of the contracts, but it is unlikely that Dosco has paid back much of the loan already.

In addition, Dosco promised to invest $5,700,000 of its own money in a four-year modernization program, starting May 25 this year.

Dosco officials are reported to have claimed that this money has been invested.

In the Commons Wednesday, the Dosco affair continued to dominate the question period.

Donald MacInnis, Cape Breton Conservative, asked the prime minister if the government had formulated plans for phasing out the Sydney steel operation.

Pearson hedged on whether or not the government was committed to phasing it out.

"We are working out plans for the protection of the interests of the workers, especially in the Sydney steel plant," he replied.

MacInnis asked if Pearson's reply was support for the statements of Industry Minister Drury or a denial of Forestry Minister Sauve's statements.

HOUSING AID DUE IN '68

By IAN STREET, Legislative Reporter

New legislation to encourage the building of more private homes in B.C. will be introduced at the legislative session which opens in January, Premier Bennett said Wednesday.

Nothing Special For French

B.C. has flatly rejected Prime Minister Pearson's suggestion that French-Canadians should be able to feel at home linguistically and culturally anywhere in Canada.

When the question was raised with Premier Bennett here Wednesday, he said, "Pearson has messed this thing up badly enough now without interfering with other provinces."

Asked to explain what he meant by "messed up," Bennett said he had nothing more to say on this subject.

NO OBJECTION

A few minutes earlier, however, he made it clear that B.C. had no intention of following the lead of Ontario Premier Roberts in his willingness to set up some high schools in which French is the language of instruction.

Bennett said he had no objection to an individual school board wanting to expand the teaching of French.

When asked about the Ontario French education plan, Bennett replied: "He (Roberts) lost a lot of support in his election yesterday."

ONE PUBLIC SYSTEM

The premier added: "In B.C. we have one public school education system in which any student by choice may learn French. No separate schools, whether parochial or private, are financed by the provincial treasury."

This policy was established before B.C. joined Confederation, said Bennett, and was not aimed at parochial schools but against those who wished to have "a state church and schools of the English faith."

NORTH AMERICAN FACT

It was the decision of the people, he said, to have a non-sectarian school system where everybody could attend.

Bennett said Quebec's current

He told a news conference on the eve of his departure for the Okanagan that no details of the new scheme would be released beforehand.

All the premier would say was that "the government will announce a new policy providing further help toward the building of individual homes." He declined to answer all queries about the relationship of the new scheme to the home-owner's and home-buyer grants.

AGREES WITH CAMPBELL

The provincial government agrees with Vancouver's Mayor Tom Campbell, he added, that big buildings filled with low-rental suites weren't the most desirable solution.

However, Bennett said, there was a limit to what any provincial government could do to provide more housing at rates people could afford, because Ottawa controlled the monetary system.

"The Liberal chickens are coming home to roost and they are hurting not only the federal government but all the people as well," the premier added.

MASSIVE SWINDLE

Referring to a Colonist story which quoted Neil McKinnon, chairman of the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce, Bennett said one of Canada's leading bankers was saying "in much stronger terms than I used" what B.C. had claimed for several years past.

McKinnon said Tuesday in Montreal that the serious inflationary trends in the economy were due to government overspending and represented "a massive swindle."

THEY MUST RESIGN

Bennett said: "The federal government should take action against this head of a Canadian chartered bank or resign. Either they are guilty or not. If not this statement is damaging to Canada. If it is true, then the Liberal government must resign."

B.C. had said from the start, the premier added, that balanced budgets in Ottawa were the solution to Canada's financial woes. The Liberals, he said, had "stalled the real right on the hill" and solutions should have been found before the present impasse.

Cardinal Rejects Exile in Rome

ROME (UPI)—Jozsef Cardinal Mindszenty stood firm against what was described as pressure from both the Vatican and the United States Wednesday and refused to leave Budapest for exile in Rome, Hungarian sources reported.

The Roman Catholic primate of Hungary was said to have demanded unacceptable concessions from the Communist government and a "dignified" departure.

"I am sorry I am alone," Franz Cardinal Koenig of Austria said during a Munich stop-over as he flew back to Rome from a Budapest mission aimed at persuading Cardinal Mindszenty to leave Hungary and accept permanent exile here.

DEMANDS CLEARANCE

Cardinal Mindszenty, 76, was convicted of treason in Budapest in 1949 and has been a political refugee in the U.S. legation in the Hungarian capital for 11 years since the days of the bloody "Freedom" revolt.

He has always demanded clearance of the treason charges.

Cardinal Koenig, representing Pope Paul, was reported to have urged Cardinal Mindszenty to get out of Hungary and to have participated in talks with the Hungarian government toward an agreement clearing the way for his departure.

Authoritative sources said the talks had broken down "at least temporarily" after a near solution did not work out.

Qualified informants said the talks would continue with the United States taking an active role.

LONDON (CP)—Both Prime Minister Wilson and Labor Minister Ray Gunter Wednesday said a Communist conspiracy is threatening the economy of Britain.

Delivering the government's first accusation against the Communists—against a background of wildcat strikes and work slowdowns that have made idle more than a quarter of Britain's longshoremen—Gunter said:

"There now is little doubt the Communist party is planning to make this a winter of disruption."

'DESTROY HOPES'

In a speech to businessmen later, Wilson said the Communists are threatening "the successful working of industrial democracy in this country."

Referring to the wildcat strikes by longshoremen at London and Liverpool—now in their fifth week—Wilson said: "No one can look at Britain's export trade at this moment without being shocked by the fact that a large volume of exports... lies in warehouses awaiting shipment."

ACTION HINTED

Both Wilson and Gunter hinted action eventually may be necessary to bring the wildcat strikes to an end.

Living Cost Boosts Pensions

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal government Wednesday confirmed there will be a two-per-cent cost-of-living increase in old age pensions starting Jan. 1.

Welfare Minister MacEachen announced the basic pension for 1,360,000 people will rise by $1.50 a month to $76.50 under the first application of the formula linking pensions to cost of living.

The cost of living rose two per cent in the 1966-67 base year, giving pensioners the maximum annual increase permitted under the new system.

Also affected is the old age supplement for the needy, whose $30 a month maximum goes up by 60 cents.

'It Wasn't a Fun Year For Indians and Poor'

SASKATOON (CP) — Alan Clarke, executive director of the Company of Young Canadians, says Canadians should do more than just talk about existing social conditions.

He told the annual meeting of the Saskatchewan Parks and Recreation Association, "It was not a fun year for the Canadian Indian, the Negro in Nova Scotia, for families trapped in urban slums or for the more than 1,000,000 adult Canadians who are functionally illiterate."

Canada is both a have and a have-not country in which the ordinary Canadian often is the victim, rather than the agent or beneficiary, of social progress, he said.

Many young people are starting to act to supplement the talk about conditions. They are joining groups such as the CYC to work in many areas to bring about changes.

Commenting on reaction to what is being described as "beards and long hair" in the CYC, Clarke said "preliminary surveys indicate that the per capita number of beards and long hairs in the CYC is far less than in the photograph of the Fathers of Confederation taken at Charlottetown."

He asked Canadians over 25 to take a close look at existing organizations to make sure their work is fulfilling its objectives.

"And one other thing that the older generation has to do is to begin to respect and learn from the differences in people in this country."

Decision Should Be Up to Doctors, Says Banks

By JOHN MATTERS

Dr. Peter Banks, prominent Victoria consulting physician, says someone will eventually have to decide which ailing people will live or die, and it should be the decision of doctors rather than ordinary citizens or governments.

"... No society will be able to afford for all its citizens all the new arteries and the new kidneys and the new hearts and the expensive biological chemical adjustments that science will make possible. "Therefore, we will be faced with the tremendous problem of patient selection," he said in an article recently published in the British Columbia Journal of Medicine. Dr. Banks wondered: Is it better for society that a middle-aged and successful man should go on the artificial kidney or should it be used for the young, unproven student?

"I think, regardless of whether we think it is right or wrong, doctors will be forced to go on making these decisions because I don't think anyone else can and I don't think it's going to increase their popularity one bit."

He suggested that an altruistic group of citizens would be an alternative to a doctors' "death panel," but "in practice these often turn out to be less altruistic than the doctors and usually finish by asking for medical advice anyway."

Another alternative is for government to make those decisions, but this was too Orwellian for Dr. Banks.

"This is surely a very important reason for trying to keep our doctors always independent, as much as we can, of the possibility of government direction and control."

He also pointed out that there were "some very disturbing" advances in genetics. It was once thought that all men were equal, then thinking evolved along the lines that inequalities were the result of different reactions to environmental factors.

Genes Control

However, it now has been established that inequalities are passed from generation to generation through the genes, the basic hereditary material which cannot only decide such features as eye and hair color, but attitudes such as aggressiveness.

"It looks then as though inequality, both physical and mental, is created at the very moment that the male and female chromosomes clash together in the damp darkness of the ovarian tubes."

It appears those inequalities can be recognized and predicted and, in the future, perhaps altered.

"Now then, add to this a future society which will not be able to afford the best for all, and you come to a political equation with which we in our generation cannot live, and yet with which our children must."

Cost Explosion

The knowledge explosion in medicine is leading to a cost explosion and the investigative facilities of hospitals will have to compound at the same rates, he said.

"The question will arise: Can we as a society afford this? And the usual pat answer that we get is that we will have to afford this. But this is no answer."

Dr. Banks pointed out that already people suggest everyone should have a complete checkup once a year. However, if this were done, it would take the full time of all doctors doing that and nothing else.

He said that 20 years ago it was thought that better health would pay for itself by increasing the efficiency of the work force.

Cell Chemistry

However, the advances in medicine today are of greater magnitude than the discovery of antibiotics.

The advances will be in complex cell chemistry, for example, and from this will probably come the cures for cancer, degenerative arterial disease and for all the aches, pains and weariness that come with age.

"This will need increasingly complex and expensive equipment for investigation and treatment," said Dr. Banks.

He suggested the fee-for-service principle is superior to having doctors on straight salaries.

Better Job?

Dr. Banks said he knew of two salaried neurosurgeons in Newcastle, England — one who did eight operations a day and the other who insisted he could do only two.

"Who was doing the better job? Because salary leads to overwork of the willing horse and because it leads to a hierarchy which will protect itself and exclude competition by excellence alone as the ultimate measure of a man's success, many of us believe that the fee-for-service principle of payment for medicine is probably the way in which we can get the maximum amount of work from each medical unit."

Shingle Dispute

Long Strike Anticipated

By GEORGE INGLIS

Striking Victoria shingle workers are prepared for a long strike, business agent Bruce Robertson told the Victoria Labor Council Wednesday.

Mr. Robertson said the 20 shingle workers who walked off the job Monday at the McCarter Shingle and Shake Ltd. plant at the foot of Songhees Road were on legal strike and had elected to strike because of lack of concrete action in negotiations.

He said the workers, members of Local 2802 of the Shingle Weavers Union, had agreed to defer contract discussions for several months after the plant opened early this year, to enable it to start producing successfully.

NO QUARREL Negotiations started in July and have been dragging on, largely due to conciliation officer Jack Sherlock's embroilment in other negotiations, he said.

After the meeting, Mr. Robertson said he had no quarrel with statements by company president W. K. McCarter that the employees were being offered high incentive pay.

He said, however, this was a false indication of their final wage, since inferior or lesser grade logs could render employees incapable of earning high incentive rates.

SALARY LEVEL "I have figures to show these employees have been making from $8 to $10 less than the industry," he said. "All we want is an assured salary on a level with other plants in the industry."

He told the delegates some products were being turned out by two men from an anti-labor firm in the U.S.

On a motion by John Schibli, vice-president of the council and the Provincial Council of Carpenters, the delegates agreed to declare products of the firm "unfair."

In other action the council:

● Approved the re-admittance of Oak Bay and Esquimalt municipal employees' associations into the council;

● Moved to ask the Board of Broadcast Governors to consider encouragement of Canadian talent and to request the installation of a CBC radio station in Victoria.

Danger Needs Underlining

Capt. Elvet Morgan, who was responsible for the Salvation Army's Harbor Lights centre on Yates, told the Greater Victoria Association on Alcoholism Wednesday it should stress the dangers of alcohol to youth. It was his farewell address, before leaving for the Miracle Valley rehabilitation centre near Vancouver.

Gun Angle Held Key To Intent

A man who intended to kill a person would aim a gun deliberately at that person, defense counsel Nicholas Munsallem told the Fall Assize of the Supreme Court Wednesday.

The lawyer was summing up for the 12-man jury the defence of James Frederick Redlin, charged with non-capital murder in the fatal shooting May 9 of Mrs. Lavina Nicholson, 6715 Sooke Road.

He said the height of a bullet hole in the wall and wounds suffered by Mrs. Nicholson indicated that the rifle discharged accidentally at an upward angle and was not aimed.

Counsel Kenneth Murphy for the Crown previously reviewed the evidence and told the jury it all pointed to the guilt of the accused.

Mr. Justice Nathan Nemetz will begin his charge to the jury at 10:30 a.m. today.

Esquimalt Candidate

Pro-Fluoride Platform

Surgeon Capt. J. W. Rogers of CFB Esquimalt announced Wednesday that fluoridation will be his platform when he seeks a council seat in Esquimalt's December elections.

He made the announcement after telling the Greater Victoria Metropolitan Board of Health

the federal government would contribute $75,000 toward the cost of fluoridating all of the area's water supply.

However, Capt. Rogers said the question would first have to win majority support in a referendum. The department of defence wants fluoridated water supplied to its installations here.

Esquimalt is the only municipality in the Greater Victoria area which does not control its own water supply.

Capt. Rogers announced his intention to seek election last year, but withdrew from the race when it was discovered he did not have the property qualifications.

Stephen Feared Loss of New Parkland

Stump Fight 'Not Worth Risk'

If B.C. Hydro refuses to cut stumps below ground level on the Thetis Lake Park right-of-way, it will be a "form of blackmail," a prominent area conservationist said Wednesday.

When permission was given to the power corporation to drive a 1,000-foot-long power line access route through the southern tip of the park more than a year ago, a condition of the agreement was that all trees be felled so that stumps were not visible.

On Tuesday, members of the parks committee were told that the Hydro authority wanted reconsideration of this clause of the agreement, that stumps be allowed.

RECOMMENDATION

Hydro wants tree felling permitted to a height convenient for a man with a chain saw.

The committee went along with the request and will recommend relaxation of the condition to city council.

Mayor Hugh Stephen said Tuesday that it was not worth risking the 49 acres of prime parkland, north of Thetis Park, which was exchanged by B.C. Hydro for the right-of-way. He said he felt the city should give way on the stump question.

NATURE WAR

Although he did not like the Hydro attitude, said Ald. Robert Baird, chairman of the council parks committee, he did not think the issue one "to go to war about."

Miss M. C. Melburn, secretary of the Thetis Park Nature Sanctuary Association, does not agree. In her opinion it is a matter to go to war about.

RE-OPEN CASE?

Informed that no papers had been signed between the Hydro and the city, and that no work had been done on the 100-foot-wide route, Miss Melburn suggested that the whole question of allowing the Hydro to encroach on the parkland be re-opened.

"Allowing them in there was a mistake in the first place, but if they want to play rough, let's take another look at the whole issue," said Miss Melburn.

President of the Thetis sanctuary association, Eric H. German, agreed. He questioned the mayor's statement that the 50 acres north of the park was in jeopardy.

"Even as Hydro-owned land, it is accessible to the public, and I certainly can't see it being disposed of by the corporation," said Mr. German.

If the city was looking for altruism from the B.C. Hydro, it was being short-sighted, said Mr. German. The authority's actions were governed by only one thing, and that was expediency. If the corporation thought it could save some money by crossing parkland instead of selecting an alternate route, there was no doubt which course of action it would choose, said the association president.

The surprising athletic prowess of British Columbia children has embarrassed the federal Centennial Commission and left many pupils without the recognition they were promised.

Thousands of athletic crests offered in a centennial physical fitness program have failed to arrive from the East.

The reason: B.C. children participated in greater numbers and performed far better than Ottawa expected.

gold crests were won than the number estimated by the Centennial Commission.

"They sent so many crests to each province, based on the number of children and the performance they expected," said James Panton, director of the B.C. community programs branch, on Wednesday.

About 15,000 gold crests are on order now, said Mr. Panton, who is the provincial government's liaison with the federal physical fitness program.

Resthaven Getting Coronary Centre

The north end of the Saanich Peninsula will soon have a neighborhood coronary care centre.

A $3,600 installation at Resthaven Hospital, made possible mainly by the hospital's women's auxiliary.

"We have a high ratio of elderly people living in our area and we wanted to give them the best possible treatment when they come in with heart trouble," explained T. J. Bradley, the hospital's administrator.

The portable equipment has been set up in a special ward of Resthaven, which has an idyllic view of the sea.

"We are also pleased that we can give these people such local therapy," added the administrator.

The equipment involves monitors that sound an alarm within seconds if a patient's heart acts abnormally. A nurse then rushes to the ward to attend the person.

THE DAILY BRITISH COLONIST

October 19, 1967

By Electric Telegraph—special to the British Colonist—St. Louis, Oct. 17. — The ground was broken and work commenced yesterday on the Southern Branch Union Pacific Railroad at Junction City, Kansas.

New York, Oct. 17.—The Express says private advices from Europe regard war as imminent. The purchase of land and flour in this market strengthens this belief. A private cable despatch says there is an uneasy feeling in Paris and apprehensions that the French troops will occupy Rome.

Paris, Oct. 16.—The Emperor has summoned a general council of the Cabinet to consider the affairs of Italy. The result of their deliberation was a resolution that France should immediately interfere for the settlement of the Roman question but without the action or conjunction of Italy. According to the Moniteur he censures Italy for violating the law of nations in disregarding solemn treaties and fostering a dangerous spirit of republicanism. Owing to the prospect of intervention the financial depression increases.

Sweaters are getting the longest look, in the new swing to the classic mood in separates for sports and campus wear. The long sweater, easing down over the hips with just enough fullness for comfortable neatness, is "the" sweater of the season. Pullover or cardigan, the sweaters cover the skirt from the waistline to the top of the thigh. Belts are slung low and easy around many of the long-pull sweaters. Braided or knitted, they are in yam-matching, solid-colored sweaters—or picking up a shade in multicolored knits. Narrow leather belts match or contrast. The chain belts, linked around many dresses, coats and skirts this year, also will glint on the long sweaters. The high neckline is the rule with the long pullovers. — (Copley News Service)

Vancouver Home For Newlyweds

Standard baskets filled with white chrysanthemums were at the altar rail in St. Luke's Church when Janet Mary Johns and Mr. Barry Charles Penrice were married recently.

Archdeacon C. E. F. Wolff officiated at the double ring ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Johns, 4700 Cordova Bay Road and the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Penrice of Vancouver.

The bride, given in marriage by her father looked beautiful in her gown of organza and Swiss embroidered lace. Deeply scalloped lace edged the elbow length sleeves and bodice. Matching lace applique and a border of lace enhanced the skirt with its long flowing train. A headpiece of satin roses held her Chantilly bouffant veil and she carried a bouquet of white rosebuds, carnations, stephanotis and ivy.

The bridal attendants were Miss Gail Roper and the groom's sisters, Misses Darlene and Teresa Penrice. They wore floor length empire style sheaths fashioned with blue velvet bodices and blue sparkle crepe skirts. Their illusion net veils misted from blue flower headpieces and their pearl drops were a gift from the bride. White carnations and fern were in their cascade bouquets.

Mr. Tom Burry was best man and showing guests to pews were Mr. Josh Taguchi of Vancouver and Mr. David Thornley.

The reception was held at the Olde England Inn where the bride's table, covered with hand crocheted cloth, was centred with a three-tiered cake, flowers and silver candelabra. Mr. C. Beard proposed the toast.

For a wedding trip to California the new Mrs. Penrice travelled in a slim sheath dress of pale turquoise, matching coat accessories. Her corsage was of white rhinestone buttons, matching feather hat and black live in Vancouver.

Poulsen-Pritchard

Motor Trip To Banff

A motor trip to Jasper, Lake Louise and Banff followed the recent marriage of Anita June Pritchard and Mr. Pallo Poulsen in St. George the Martyr Church, Cadboro Bay. The newly weds are now residing at 751 Canterbury Road.

Rev. N. S. Noel officiated at the wedding ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. E. Cooper 628 Dallas Road, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Poulsen, 840 Pemberton Road.

Miss Fran Coalston played the wedding music and Mr. Cooper gave the bride in marriage. An overlay of Chantilly lace on each side of the floor-length, redingote style skirt enhanced the bride's lovely white taffeta faille gown. A full train swept from a large back bow and the bride's four-tiered, scalloped veil misted from a French-made flower. She carried a bouquet of gladiolus and stephanotis, tipped in green, and a white orchid.

A-line gowns in a delicate shade of lime green were worn by the bride's attendants. Mrs. Mary Searle, matron of honor; Mrs. Hanne Williams, groom's sister, and Mrs. Beverly Cooper, bride's aunt, as bridesmaids. Little Miss Adrienne Cooper, flower girl, was in matching gown and carried a basket of gladiolus. Master Brent Cooper was page boy.

Mr. Richard Couch was best man and ushering guests to pews were Mr. Neils Poulsen, groom's brother, and Mr. Anthony Quinn.

Mr. J. E. Mills proposed the toast to his niece at the supper

reception which followed in Holyrood House.

For travelling the bride wore a three-piece Italian-knit suit in moss green with beige accessories.
